Suspend Sentence; Must Pay Car Rental

In a hearing Tuesday before Magistrate Wilbur F. Sheffield, Frederick, Bickford E. Stottlemeyer, of Emmitsburg, received a 90-day suspended sentence on a charge of failure to return a car to the Truck Rental Co., of Frederick according to contract time. Special Deputy James G. Magistrate Sheffield suspended the sentence on condition Stottlemeyer pay the additional rental due on the truck and costs of the court.

ASK UPPER END FOR $1,000 IN CANCER DRIVE

Solicitors for the Cancer drive in the upper end of the county are hoping to secure one-fourth of the county's $4,000 goal in their area.

Goals by districts in the upper end include $275 for Arendtsville, $475 for Biglerville, $200, Bendersville, and $100 for the Brysonia-Wenksville section.

Solicitors in those sections are hopeful of securing the majority of their share in the count-wide drive during one night, next Wednesday, April 8, during a "lights on" campaign.

They are asking residents of the area to turn on porch lights if they plan to donate to the cancer fund. The canvassers making the rounds will stop at the homes where lights are lit on the porches and make the collections. In that way they hope to visit nearly all of the homes of those eager to support the drive, and they also hope that the donations will be large enough to help them meet their goal.

Head Area Drive

Serving as chairmen for the upper Adams communities are Mrs. J. W. Frederick, Arendtsville; Mrs. Robert Deatrick, Bendersville, Mrs. William Harbaugh, Biglerville; Mrs. Paul G. Pitzer, Brysonia-Wenksville.

The canvassers will have with them pledge cards to mark the donations given them. They will also carry literature on the activities of the cancer fund and giving the "danger signals" for cancer. Those contributing to the drive will be given also tiny red "cancer swords" to wear as a decoration to show they gave.

Of the money given the cancer crusade one-half remains in the county to support the local tumor clinic and carry on other work of the county organization. The other half goes to the American Cancer Society to carry on the national work.

TAYLOR QUITS AS MEMBER OF LIBRARY BOARD

The resignation of Leighton C. Taylor, Bendersville, as a commissioner—appointed member of the Adam County Free Library board, was accepted by the county commissioners "with deepest regret" this morning at their meeting in the Court House.

Attorney Taylor listed inability to be present for the meetings of the board as his reason for resigning, in a letter addressed to the commissioners.

Another resignation, that of R. E. Trostle as assessor in the First Ward of Gettysburg, was also accepted by the county officials. Successors to both will be named within a few weeks, Clark L. Fetters, chairman of the commissioners, said.

County aid totaling $2,437.38 was approved for Huntington Twp. following receipt of an application for such assistance. The township, according to its petition, is planning to repair one mile of Route 590 starting at LR 01047 and extending south, and will resurface route 590 from LR 01011 north for one mile.

For Sale: 50 Brooms

Two county home problems were placed before the board by Steward Herbert Taylor. The first had to do with disposition of 124 brooms made from the broom corn grown at the county home farm last year. Some of the brooms will be used in the county jail and court house and at the county home, but a surplus of about 50 remains. The commissioners postponed until Thursday decision on whether to sell the extra 50 brooms.

Need for several couples as attendants at the county home was outlined by Taylor. The commissioners voted to advertise again for help, pointing out that the jobs provide maintenance, and social security, as well as a salary of more than $200 per month per couple.

The Betrayal

The Associated Press

The scene changes to the Garden of Gethsemane. "And He took with Him Peter and James and John, and began to be greatly distressed and troubled. And He said to them, 'My Soul is very sorrowful, even to death; remain here and watch.' And going a little farther, He fell on the ground and prayed.

"'Father, if Thou art willing, remove this cup from Me, nevertheless not My will, but Thine, be done.' And there appeared to Him an angel from heaven, strengthening Him. And being in agony He prayed more earnestly; and His sweat became like great drops of blood falling down upon the ground."

Three times He returned to the three, finding them asleep.

"And He said to Peter, 'Simon, are you asleep? Could you not watch one hour?' But at last He said, 'It is enough; the hour has come; the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. Rise, let us be going; see My betrayer is at hand.'"

Judas was at hand with a band of soldiers and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees with lanterns and torches and weapons.

"Now the betrayer had given them a sign, saying 'The One I shall kiss is the Man; seize Him and lead Him away safely.' And when he came he went up to Him at once, and said, 'Master!' And he kissed Him. And they laid hands on Him and seized Him.

"Then Simon Peter, having a sword, drew it and struck the high priest's slave and cut off his right ear.

"But Jesus said, 'No more of this!' And He touched his ear and healed him.

"Then all the disciples forsook Him and fled."

Later, a repentant Judas tried to return the 30 pieces of silver to the priests, threw the money down in the temple and "went and hanged himself."

GERMAN YOUTH IS STUDYING FARMING HERE

Joachim Stasch says, "I'm going to steal all your best ideas and then spend the rest of my life giving them to the German farmers."

Stasch, youthful University of Munich graduate, is currently touring the county with Assistant County Agent Fred Attinger to learn of the work of the county agents. For two weeks he was a student-teacher in the agriculture department at Gettysburg High School.

Destined to be a teacher of agriculture in his native Germany Stasch is an exchange student sent to Penn State College to learn how the United States agriculture education departments work. As part of his studies he will visit five counties in the state to work with agricultural classes in the high schools, and with county agents in adult educational work.

The German teacher said he wished "our farmers in Germany were as open to new ideas as your farmers here." The patriarchal German farmers, he says, "are kings on their own lands and they tell you: 'I do it this way for 60 years, my father did it before me and his father before him did it the same way. It has always been successful."

Smaller Farms Abroad

That attitude, says Stasch, is not prevalent here. "Everyone seems anxious to learn more about farming, and better ways of doing things."

One reason for the difference may be the size of farms, he added. In Germany farms are too small

Here And There

News Collected At Random

Not only was the Confederate army badly defeated when it invaded Gettysburg, 90 years ago, but it also overlooked a fresh batch of home-made bread that rested safety in the oven of the kitchen range on a farm now owned by President of the United States Dwight D. Eisenhower.

And why was this little story never told before?

Well, this is how we heard about it.

In the account of the death of Mrs. Mary Gertrude Norris Mehaffe, of Zion, Ill., published May 18, a Waukegan newspaper stated that the deceased lived on what is known now as the Eisenhower farm during the Battle of Gettysburg, and that later she and her family moved west.

Our informant advises us that this is incorrect. He says that Mr. and Mrs. Adam R. Bollinger (parents of Harvey Bollinger, N. Washington St.), and their two children, Jennie, 3, and Charles, 1, lived on that farm at that time. The property was then known as the Biesecker farm. He says Mr. Bollinger had been ordered to bake a batch of bread by some Confederate troops and that after she placed the loaves in the oven to bake they were ordered to leave the farm because of the danger.

The Bollingers moved to the home of John Keefauver, father of Mrs. Bollinger, who then resided on what is known as the Carbaugh farm, just beyond Round Top. (Mr. Keefauver was a great-uncle of Superintendent

GIFTS BOOST RED CROSS SUM OVER $11,000

The annual finance drive of the Adams County Red Cross was within "sighting distance" of its goal today.

Attorney Charles W. Wolf, chairman for the campaign, said total income reported up to this morning was $11,253.66, leaving $2,746.34 still to be collected to reach the county's goal of $14,000.

A total of $1,916 was turned in to the county Red Cross office during the last 24 hours from various sections of the county, boosting the total from $9,337.66 to $11,253.66.

Additional Reports

Abbottstown delivered $204 this morning to raise the amount the solicitors have turned in from that community to $214—just $60 short of the goal for the town.

New Oxford, the only district in the county "over the top" is not resting on its laurels, according to a report today. The canvassers there headed by Mrs. Sarah Estep, are continuing their work and are now $230 over the amount assigned for the district.

McSherrystown reported $670.90, bringing to $821 the amount collected in that area. The sum is $179 short of the goal for the borough.

Hope To Finish Soon

A jump of $475 for the Gettysburg residential area, which has a goal of $3,000, brought the amount turned in by canvassers in that district to $2,511. District 15 — Gettysburg south rural area—is just $19 short of its aim of $500. District 14, the Bendersville, Aspers, Gardners, Peach Glen section, brought in an additional $292 to raise the collections total there to $710.60. Goal for the district is $850. Biglerville has collected $825 toward its $1250 goal.

Attorney Wolf today urged all solicitors who have not yet completed their collections to do so and report in as soon as possible.

He added that the fund chairmen also request that residents who have not been solicited call the Red Cross office so a final "clean-up" solicitation can be made in spots which may have been unintentionally missed.

With several areas still completing collections, the Red Cross hopes to end its annual drive next week.

Banks and the court house offices will be closed all day on Friday. Schedules at the Postoffice will not be affected by Good Friday.

Behind-The-Lines Invasion Stopped Says Van Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet testified today he was stopped by orders from making an amphibious landing behind the Communist lines in June, 1951, which he was convinced could destroy the Red armies in Korea.

The former Eighth Army commander told senators he was ready to go with the operation when he received stop orders from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, then the Far Eastern commander with headquarters in Tokyo.

Van Fleet said the Eighth Army has smashed two Red spring offensives and he recommended "that we follow up with an amphibious landing on the East Coast."

Senator Margaret Chase Smith said that shortages during the 22 months that Van Fleet led the Eighth Army had caused restrictions or limitation upon the fighting "men in the frontline."

MARCH WARM, WET; BUILDS RAIN SURPLUS

March followed in the footsteps of the first two months of the year by adding to the accumulation of excess rain and warmth piled up since the first of the year.

The month just ended was warmer and wetter than normal, just as January had been. February was unusually warm but a shade under normal rainfall.

Rainfall in March totaled 5.06 inches but normal for the month is 3.33 inches. The surplus 1.73 inches brought 1953 excess rainfall to 4.34 inches. The total rainfall and melted snow so far this year amount to 13.49 inches.

There were five inches of snow in March and traces too light to measure on three days. Those five inches brought the winter's total to 19.2 inches, little more than half of the normal as established over the last 50 years.

Freezing temperatures were recorded on 15 days last month. The average temperature for the month was 42.03 degrees and normal is 40.5 degrees. There was only one day in the month in which the mercury failed to rise above the freezing mark. The average daily high reading was 51.8 degrees and the average daily low temperature was a shade above freezing at 32.26 degrees.

In his letter of resignation Mr. Teeter told Mr. Oyler that "it has been a pleasure to work with the councilmen."

Council is expected to accept the resignation at its April meeting. Mr. Teeter's term expires the first Monday in January, 1954.

If You Haven't 1953 Car Tag Or Card, Call State Police

HARRISBURG (AP) — Automobile owners who received neither new automobile plates nor special cards authorizing use of 1952 plates were asked today to seek special consideration from the nearest state police headquarters.

Col. C. M. Wilhelm, commissioner of state police, made the suggestion as a solution to the mixup over delivering 1953 automobile plates. The 1952 plates went officially into the discard at midnight.

The confusion over changing over from 1952 to 1953 plates developed from manufacturing delays due to the January riot at the Western State Penitentiary, Pittsburgh, where the state's 3½ million automobile license plates are made.

The State Revenue Department estimated that some 200,000 automobile owners failed to receive their 1953 plates. However, for that group the department issued a special card, in lieu of plates, authorizing use of 1952 tags until the new plates are received.

Arthur G. Burgoyne, deputy secretary of revenue, said that all applications for new plates have been processed, with either plates or the special card mailed to all applicants. He said that a general extension of use of 1952 plates was unnecessary.

"The Department of Revenue," Wilhelm said, "has told me that every applicant has been sent a license plate or a card."

Wilhelm said that the Revenue Department sets the deadline for the license plate changeover and that it is up to the state police to enforce the law.

However, Wilhelm said that in event of some delay in the mails, owners who fail to receive their new plates or cards should contact the officer in charge of their local state police headquarters for special consideration.

INSTALL SNYDER PRESIDENT OF EXCHANGE CLUB

Robert P. Snyder, new president of the Exchange Club, and other club officers, were installed by State Vice President Harry Graybill, York, at a Ladies Night dinner meeting at Bankert's Restaurant Tuesday night.

Special guests of the club at the dinner, installation and entertainment program which followed included a number of the adult members of the cast of "Shooting Stars," the stage presentation of the Exchange Club held in the high school auditorium January 29 and 30. They were introduced by John J. Slentz, who was general chairman of the show.

Other officers installed, in addition to President Snyder, were: Vice president, Thomas C. Brenner; secretary, John J. Slentz; treasurer, Carl E. Prosser; members of the Board of Control, Donald Peters, Glenn Musselman and Millard Doyle. Mr. Musselman was installed in absentia.

Guise Is Toastmaster

E. Donald Scot, retiring president, led the pledge to the flag and the invocation was given by Mr. Prosser. Following the dinner, Glenn Guise, first president of the club, served as toastmaster, introducing Mr. Graybill and George Deardorff, also of York, the new district governor.

Mr. Graybill paid a tribute to Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis and all other service clubs, and declared that each club should ask itself, not "What can we do to make our club better, but what can we do to make our community better?"

He said that all service clubs "provide an opportunity to give for others, and that doing for the community will reflect back on the service club itself."

Pins Presented

In installing the officers, Mr. Graybill said: "The Getysburg Club has reached another milestone in its life. The true meaning of every service club is many-sided. It is the giving of one's self to provide service to others, that they may have a better and fuller life."

Other guests in addition to the cast members introduced by Mr. Slentz were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Snyder of Sarver R. 1, Pa. They were introduced by Mr. Snyder's brother, Robert P. Snyder, the new president.

Mr. Scott, the retiring president, thanked all members of the club, the various committees, and the ladies for their help during the year just past. He presented the president's pin to Mr. Snyder, and a vice president's pin to Mr. Brenner. Mr. Snyder in turn presented a past president's pin to Mr. Scott.

Suspend Sentence; Must Pay Car Rental

In a hearing Tuesday before Magistrate Wilbur F. Sheffield, Frederick, Bickford E. Stottlemeyer, of Emmitsburg, received a 90-day suspended sentence on a charge of failure to return a car to the Truck Rental Co., of Frederick according to contract time. Special Deputy James G. Magistrate Sheffield suspended the sentence on condition Stottlemeyer pay the additional rental due on the truck and costs of the court.

ASK UPPER END FOR $1,000 IN CANCER DRIVE

Solicitors for the Cancer drive in the upper end of the county are hoping to secure one-fourth of the county's $4,000 goal in their area.

Goals by districts in the upper end include $275 for Arendtsville, $475 for Biglerville, $200, Bendersville, and $100 for the Brysonia-Wenksville section.

Solicitors in those sections are hopeful of securing the majority of their share in the count-wide drive during one night, next Wednesday, April 8, during a "lights on" campaign.

They are asking residents of the area to turn on porch lights if they plan to donate to the cancer fund. The canvassers making the rounds will stop at the homes where lights are lit on the porches and make the collections. In that way they hope to visit nearly all of the homes of those eager to support the drive, and they also hope that the donations will be large enough to help them meet their goal.

Head Area Drive

Serving as chairmen for the upper Adams communities are Mrs. J. W. Frederick, Arendtsville; Mrs. Robert Deatrick, Bendersville, Mrs. William Harbaugh, Biglerville; Mrs. Paul G. Pitzer, Brysonia-Wenksville.

The canvassers will have with them pledge cards to mark the donations given them. They will also carry literature on the activities of the cancer fund and giving the "danger signals" for cancer. Those contributing to the drive will be given also tiny red "cancer swords" to wear as a decoration to show they gave.

Of the money given the cancer crusade one-half remains in the county to support the local tumor clinic and carry on other work of the county organization. The other half goes to the American Cancer Society to carry on the national work.

TAYLOR QUITS AS MEMBER OF LIBRARY BOARD

The resignation of Leighton C. Taylor, Bendersville, as a commissioner—appointed member of the Adam County Free Library board, was accepted by the county commissioners "with deepest regret" this morning at their meeting in the Court House.

Attorney Taylor listed inability to be present for the meetings of the board as his reason for resigning, in a letter addressed to the commissioners.

Another resignation, that of R. E. Trostle as assessor in the First Ward of Gettysburg, was also accepted by the county officials. Successors to both will be named within a few weeks, Clark L. Fetters, chairman of the commissioners, said.

County aid totaling $2,437.38 was approved for Huntington Twp. following receipt of an application for such assistance. The township, according to its petition, is planning to repair one mile of Route 590 starting at LR 01047 and extending south, and will resurface route 590 from LR 01011 north for one mile.

For Sale: 50 Brooms

Two county home problems were placed before the board by Steward Herbert Taylor. The first had to do with disposition of 124 brooms made from the broom corn grown at the county home farm last year. Some of the brooms will be used in the county jail and court house and at the county home, but a surplus of about 50 remains. The commissioners postponed until Thursday decision on whether to sell the extra 50 brooms.

Need for several couples as attendants at the county home was outlined by Taylor. The commissioners voted to advertise again for help, pointing out that the jobs provide maintenance, and social security, as well as a salary of more than $200 per month per couple.

The Betrayal

The Associated Press

The scene changes to the Garden of Gethsemane. "And He took with Him Peter and James and John, and began to be greatly distressed and troubled. And He said to them, 'My Soul is very sorrowful, even to death; remain here and watch.' And going a little farther, He fell on the ground and prayed.

"'Father, if Thou art willing, remove this cup from Me, nevertheless not My will, but Thine, be done.' And there appeared to Him an angel from heaven, strengthening Him. And being in agony He prayed more earnestly; and His sweat became like great drops of blood falling down upon the ground."

Three times He returned to the three, finding them asleep.

"And He said to Peter, 'Simon, are you asleep? Could you not watch one hour?' But at last He said, 'It is enough; the hour has come; the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. Rise, let us be going; see My betrayer is at hand.'"

Judas was at hand with a band of soldiers and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees with lanterns and torches and weapons.

"Now the betrayer had given them a sign, saying 'The One I shall kiss is the Man; seize Him and lead Him away safely.' And when he came he went up to Him at once, and said, 'Master!' And he kissed Him. And they laid hands on Him and seized Him.

"Then Simon Peter, having a sword, drew it and struck the high priest's slave and cut off his right ear.

"But Jesus said, 'No more of this!' And He touched his ear and healed him.

"Then all the disciples forsook Him and fled."

Later, a repentant Judas tried to return the 30 pieces of silver to the priests, threw the money down in the temple and "went and hanged himself."

GERMAN YOUTH IS STUDYING FARMING HERE

Joachim Stasch says, "I'm going to steal all your best ideas and then spend the rest of my life giving them to the German farmers."

Stasch, youthful University of Munich graduate, is currently touring the county with Assistant County Agent Fred Attinger to learn of the work of the county agents. For two weeks he was a student-teacher in the agriculture department at Gettysburg High School.

Destined to be a teacher of agriculture in his native Germany Stasch is an exchange student sent to Penn State College to learn how the United States agriculture education departments work. As part of his studies he will visit five counties in the state to work with agricultural classes in the high schools, and with county agents in adult educational work.

The German teacher said he wished "our farmers in Germany were as open to new ideas as your farmers here." The patriarchal German farmers, he says, "are kings on their own lands and they tell you: 'I do it this way for 60 years, my father did it before me and his father before him did it the same way. It has always been successful."

Smaller Farms Abroad

That attitude, says Stasch, is not prevalent here. "Everyone seems anxious to learn more about farming, and better ways of doing things."

One reason for the difference may be the size of farms, he added. In Germany farms are too small

Here And There

News Collected At Random

Not only was the Confederate army badly defeated when it invaded Gettysburg, 90 years ago, but it also overlooked a fresh batch of home-made bread that rested safety in the oven of the kitchen range on a farm now owned by President of the United States Dwight D. Eisenhower.

And why was this little story never told before?

Well, this is how we heard about it.

In the account of the death of Mrs. Mary Gertrude Norris Mehaffe, of Zion, Ill., published May 18, a Waukegan newspaper stated that the deceased lived on what is known now as the Eisenhower farm during the Battle of Gettysburg, and that later she and her family moved west.

Our informant advises us that this is incorrect. He says that Mr. and Mrs. Adam R. Bollinger (parents of Harvey Bollinger, N. Washington St.), and their two children, Jennie, 3, and Charles, 1, lived on that farm at that time. The property was then known as the Biesecker farm. He says Mr. Bollinger had been ordered to bake a batch of bread by some Confederate troops and that after she placed the loaves in the oven to bake they were ordered to leave the farm because of the danger.

The Bollingers moved to the home of John Keefauver, father of Mrs. Bollinger, who then resided on what is known as the Carbaugh farm, just beyond Round Top. (Mr. Keefauver was a great-uncle of Superintendent

GIFTS BOOST RED CROSS SUM OVER $11,000

The annual finance drive of the Adams County Red Cross was within "sighting distance" of its goal today.

Attorney Charles W. Wolf, chairman for the campaign, said total income reported up to this morning was $11,253.66, leaving $2,746.34 still to be collected to reach the county's goal of $14,000.

A total of $1,916 was turned in to the county Red Cross office during the last 24 hours from various sections of the county, boosting the total from $9,337.66 to $11,253.66.

Additional Reports

Abbottstown delivered $204 this morning to raise the amount the solicitors have turned in from that community to $214—just $60 short of the goal for the town.

New Oxford, the only district in the county "over the top" is not resting on its laurels, according to a report today. The canvassers there headed by Mrs. Sarah Estep, are continuing their work and are now $230 over the amount assigned for the district.

McSherrystown reported $670.90, bringing to $821 the amount collected in that area. The sum is $179 short of the goal for the borough.

Hope To Finish Soon

A jump of $475 for the Gettysburg residential area, which has a goal of $3,000, brought the amount turned in by canvassers in that district to $2,511. District 15 — Gettysburg south rural area—is just $19 short of its aim of $500. District 14, the Bendersville, Aspers, Gardners, Peach Glen section, brought in an additional $292 to raise the collections total there to $710.60. Goal for the district is $850. Biglerville has collected $825 toward its $1250 goal.

Attorney Wolf today urged all solicitors who have not yet completed their collections to do so and report in as soon as possible.

He added that the fund chairmen also request that residents who have not been solicited call the Red Cross office so a final "clean-up" solicitation can be made in spots which may have been unintentionally missed.

With several areas still completing collections, the Red Cross hopes to end its annual drive next week.

Behind-The-Lines Invasion Stopped Says Van Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet testified today he was stopped by orders from making an amphibious landing behind the Communist lines in June, 1951, which he was convinced could destroy the Red armies in Korea.

The former Eighth Army commander told senators he was ready to go with the operation when he received stop orders from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, then the Far Eastern commander with headquarters in Tokyo.

Van Fleet said the Eighth Army has smashed two Red spring offensives and he recommended "that we follow up with an amphibious landing on the East Coast."

Senator Margaret Chase Smith said that shortages during the 22 months that Van Fleet led the Eighth Army had caused restrictions or limitation upon the fighting "men in the frontline."

MARCH WARM, WET; BUILDS RAIN SURPLUS

March followed in the footsteps of the first two months of the year by adding to the accumulation of excess rain and warmth piled up since the first of the year.

The month just ended was warmer and wetter than normal, just as January had been. February was unusually warm but a shade under normal rainfall.

Rainfall in March totaled 5.06 inches but normal for the month is 3.33 inches. The surplus 1.73 inches brought 1953 excess rainfall to 4.34 inches. The total rainfall and melted snow so far this year amount to 13.49 inches.

There were five inches of snow in March and traces too light to measure on three days. Those five inches brought the winter's total to 19.2 inches, little more than half of the normal as established over the last 50 years.

Freezing temperatures were recorded on 15 days last month. The average temperature for the month was 42.03 degrees and normal is 40.5 degrees. There was only one day in the month in which the mercury failed to rise above the freezing mark. The average daily high reading was 51.8 degrees and the average daily low temperature was a shade above freezing at 32.26 degrees.

In his letter of resignation Mr. Teeter told Mr. Oyler that "it has been a pleasure to work with the councilmen."

If You Haven't 1953 Car Tag Or Card, Call State Police

HARRISBURG (AP) — Automobile owners who received neither new automobile plates nor special cards authorizing use of 1952 plates were asked today to seek special consideration from the nearest state police headquarters.

Col. C. M. Wilhelm, commissioner of state police, made the suggestion as a solution to the mixup over delivering 1953 automobile plates. The 1952 plates went officially into the discard at midnight.

The confusion over changing over from 1952 to 1953 plates developed from manufacturing delays due to the January riot at the Western State Penitentiary, Pittsburgh, where the state's 3½ million automobile license plates are made.

The State Revenue Department estimated that some 200,000 automobile owners failed to receive their 1953 plates. However, for that group the department issued a special card, in lieu of plates, authorizing use of 1952 tags until the new plates are received.

Arthur G. Burgoyne, deputy secretary of revenue, said that all applications for new plates have been processed, with either plates or the special card mailed to all applicants. He said that a general extension of use of 1952 plates was unnecessary.

"The Department of Revenue," Wilhelm said, "has told me that every applicant has been sent a license plate or a card."

Wilhelm said that the Revenue Department sets the deadline for the license plate changeover and that it is up to the state police to enforce the law.

However, Wilhelm said that in event of some delay in the mails, owners who fail to receive their new plates or cards should contact the officer in charge of their local state police headquarters for special consideration.

INSTALL SNYDER PRESIDENT OF EXCHANGE CLUB

Robert P. Snyder, new president of the Exchange Club, and other club officers, were installed by State Vice President Harry Graybill, York, at a Ladies Night dinner meeting at Bankert's Restaurant Tuesday night.

Special guests of the club at the dinner, installation and entertainment program which followed included a number of the adult members of the cast of "Shooting Stars," the stage presentation of the Exchange Club held in the high school auditorium January 29 and 30. They were introduced by John J. Slentz, who was general chairman of the show.

Other officers installed, in addition to President Snyder, were: Vice president, Thomas C. Brenner; secretary, John J. Slentz; treasurer, Carl E. Prosser; members of the Board of Control, Donald Peters, Glenn Musselman and Millard Doyle. Mr. Musselman was installed in absentia.

Guise Is Toastmaster

E. Donald Scot, retiring president, led the pledge to the flag and the invocation was given by Mr. Prosser. Following the dinner, Glenn Guise, first president of the club, served as toastmaster, introducing Mr. Graybill and George Deardorff, also of York, the new district governor.

Mr. Graybill paid a tribute to Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis and all other service clubs, and declared that each club should ask itself, not "What can we do to make our club better, but what can we do to make our community better?"

He said that all service clubs "provide an opportunity to give for others, and that doing for the community will reflect back on the service club itself."

Pins Presented

In installing the officers, Mr. Graybill said: "The Getysburg Club has reached another milestone in its life. The true meaning of every service club is many-sided. It is the giving of one's self to provide service to others, that they may have a better and fuller life."

Other guests in addition to the cast members introduced by Mr. Slentz were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Snyder of Sarver R. 1, Pa. They were introduced by Mr. Snyder's brother, Robert P. Snyder, the new president.

Mr. Scott, the retiring president, thanked all members of the club, the various committees, and the ladies for their help during the year just past. He presented the president's pin to Mr. Snyder, and a vice president's pin to Mr. Brenner. Mr. Snyder in turn presented a past president's pin to Mr. Scott.

WANT RED CHINA IN U. N. AS PRICE OF POW SWITCH

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today said the Soviet Union supports fully the proposals by Communist China for the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war in Korea.

Molotov's statement said:

"There can be no doubt that the peoples of the whole world and all people who are permeated with an honest striving to bring an end to the war in Korea and assist in the strengthening of peace and security of the peoples of the Far East and the entire world, will approve this proposal with warm sympathy and will give it full support."

He continued: "The Soviet government recognizes the full justice of this proposal of the government of the Chnese People's Republic, of the government of the Korean Peoples Democratic Republic and expresses its readiness to fully assist in its realization."

Molotov called also for the admission of the Chinese People's Republic to the United Nations.

Molotov said "it is natural that the United Nations organization could do more in relation to an armistice and cessation of war in Korea if there were among its membership lawful representatives of China and Korea."

Gettysburg College has received a copy of the Lutheran Hymn Book published in Gettysburg in 1823 which has been added to the collection of rare books in the college library.

Ike Strips Off Civil Service "Protection"

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today stripped civil service job protection from "more than several hundred" policy-making government officials appointed by Democratic administrations.

The President signed an executive order opening the way for naming men of his own choosing to such key positions in various federal agencies.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said today's order removes "more than several hundred" present policy-making officials from civil service status.

Asked for a more precise estimate, Hagerty said he was unable to provide one.

Asked then whether the number of officials affected might run into the thousands, the secretary replied that would depend on how the order is administered by the various federal agencies.

BRITISH CLERK HELD WEEK FOR FIVE SLAYINGS

LONDON, (AP)—An owl-eyed clerk charged with murdering his wife and under questioning about the sex-thrill strangling of at least five other women appeared briefly in a crowded court today. He was ordered jailed for another week.

Gaunt, 55-year-old John R. H. Christie seemed nonchalant—even bored—wth the eight-minute proceedings in the London Magistrates Court. His only outward sign of emotion was a single furrow in his pale brow. He made no statement.

The prisoner was guarded heavily by police and detectives. Outside the court, a crowd strained against police lines or queued for the few available public seats in the courtroom.

Housewives carrying shopping bags and holding onto children jostled for better views. Extra police were on duty both inside and outside the court.

There was a mad rush for seats when the courtroom doors opened.

Scores of other persons filled the windows of nearby homes and apartments, craning for a view of Christie's coming and going.

Christie stepped briskly into the dock when his name and case—No. 7 — was called. He wore a gray tweed suit and horn-rimmed spectacles.

Judge Clyde Wilson granted Scotland Yard's request that Christie be "remanded"—held over—for another week. Detectives want more time to probe into Christie's past and to grill him further about the mass "murder house" slayings in London's drab Notting Hill gate district.

Christie was captured yesterday after a seven-day nationwide manhunt—Britain's most intense since the days of Jack the Ripper. He was charged formally with the slaying of his wife, Ethel.

Police said today that he had made a statement after his detention but its contents were not disclosed.

The body of Mrs. Christie, 54, was one of six female corpses so far found buried or walled up at the macabre house of murder where Christie had lived since 1935. Police believe additional bones found in the garden may belong to a seventh victim.

Two of the dead women apparently met their fate as long as three years ago. Aside from Mrs. Christie, only three—all known as good-time girls in cheap haunts of the neighborhood—have been identified.

TRIAL OF JESUS JUDGE'S TOPIC

The legal aspects of the trial of Christ were outlined Tuesday evening by Judge W. C. Sheely at a special service held at the Biglerville Lutheran Church under sponsorship of the Ambassador Sunday School Class.

Describing the law and customs of the Hebrew people at the time of Christ, the local jurist pointed out that the trial of Christ was illegal in many particulars according to Hebrew law.

The Hebrew nation had developed a high concept of law and the protection of individuals brought for trial, and all of the regulations in regard to the protection of witnesses were disregarded in connection with the trial of Christ, the judge said.

Had the law been followed by the Sanohedrin, Christ, Who was innocent of the charges against Him, could not have been convicted. Since the officials wished Him to be convicted they had to make a travesty of the law, the judge said.

WANT RED CHINA IN U. N. AS PRICE OF POW SWITCH

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today said the Soviet Union supports fully the proposals by Communist China for the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war in Korea.

Molotov's statement said:

"There can be no doubt that the peoples of the whole world and all people who are permeated with an honest striving to bring an end to the war in Korea and assist in the strengthening of peace and security of the peoples of the Far East and the entire world, will approve this proposal with warm sympathy and will give it full support."

He continued: "The Soviet government recognizes the full justice of this proposal of the government of the Chnese People's Republic, of the government of the Korean Peoples Democratic Republic and expresses its readiness to fully assist in its realization."

Molotov called also for the admission of the Chinese People's Republic to the United Nations.

Molotov said "it is natural that the United Nations organization could do more in relation to an armistice and cessation of war in Korea if there were among its membership lawful representatives of China and Korea."

Gettysburg College has received a copy of the Lutheran Hymn Book published in Gettysburg in 1823 which has been added to the collection of rare books in the college library.

Ike Strips Off Civil Service "Protection"

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today stripped civil service job protection from "more than several hundred" policy-making government officials appointed by Democratic administrations.

The President signed an executive order opening the way for naming men of his own choosing to such key positions in various federal agencies.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said today's order removes "more than several hundred" present policy-making officials from civil service status.

Asked for a more precise estimate, Hagerty said he was unable to provide one.

Asked then whether the number of officials affected might run into the thousands, the secretary replied that would depend on how the order is administered by the various federal agencies.

BRITISH CLERK HELD WEEK FOR FIVE SLAYINGS

LONDON, (AP)—An owl-eyed clerk charged with murdering his wife and under questioning about the sex-thrill strangling of at least five other women appeared briefly in a crowded court today. He was ordered jailed for another week.

Gaunt, 55-year-old John R. H. Christie seemed nonchalant—even bored—wth the eight-minute proceedings in the London Magistrates Court. His only outward sign of emotion was a single furrow in his pale brow. He made no statement.

The prisoner was guarded heavily by police and detectives. Outside the court, a crowd strained against police lines or queued for the few available public seats in the courtroom.

Housewives carrying shopping bags and holding onto children jostled for better views. Extra police were on duty both inside and outside the court.

There was a mad rush for seats when the courtroom doors opened.

Scores of other persons filled the windows of nearby homes and apartments, craning for a view of Christie's coming and going.

Christie stepped briskly into the dock when his name and case—No. 7 — was called. He wore a gray tweed suit and horn-rimmed spectacles.

Judge Clyde Wilson granted Scotland Yard's request that Christie be "remanded"—held over—for another week. Detectives want more time to probe into Christie's past and to grill him further about the mass "murder house" slayings in London's drab Notting Hill gate district.

Christie was captured yesterday after a seven-day nationwide manhunt—Britain's most intense since the days of Jack the Ripper. He was charged formally with the slaying of his wife, Ethel.

Police said today that he had made a statement after his detention but its contents were not disclosed.

The body of Mrs. Christie, 54, was one of six female corpses so far found buried or walled up at the macabre house of murder where Christie had lived since 1935. Police believe additional bones found in the garden may belong to a seventh victim.

Two of the dead women apparently met their fate as long as three years ago. Aside from Mrs. Christie, only three—all known as good-time girls in cheap haunts of the neighborhood—have been identified.

TRIAL OF JESUS JUDGE'S TOPIC

The legal aspects of the trial of Christ were outlined Tuesday evening by Judge W. C. Sheely at a special service held at the Biglerville Lutheran Church under sponsorship of the Ambassador Sunday School Class.

Describing the law and customs of the Hebrew people at the time of Christ, the local jurist pointed out that the trial of Christ was illegal in many particulars according to Hebrew law.

The Hebrew nation had developed a high concept of law and the protection of individuals brought for trial, and all of the regulations in regard to the protection of witnesses were disregarded in connection with the trial of Christ, the judge said.

Had the law been followed by the Sanohedrin, Christ, Who was innocent of the charges against Him, could not have been convicted. Since the officials wished Him to be convicted they had to make a travesty of the law, the judge said.

STILL HOPEFUL OF PASSING SOME ECONOMY BILLS

By JOHN KOENIG JR

HARRISBURG (AP)—Sen. Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) held out hope today for passage of some Chesterman Committee economy bills despite the decisive defeat of five out of six such measures.

"There are many bills yet to come up for a vote," said the Senate Republican floor leader. "We may find some real nuggets aong them."

Mahany himself led the parade of those who have failed to find any "nuggets" so far as he voted against all six of the bills acted upon in the Senate yesterday.

The GOP leader had joined Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, in sponsoring the vast pile of bills based on Chesterman findings aimed at saving the commonwealth 100 million dollars by 1960.

Mahany has emphasized, however, that he co-sponsored the bills merely to get them on the floor for debate in speedy fashion—that his name upon them does not mean necessarily that he favors them.

Only Advisory Group

"The Chesterman Committee is merely an advisory committee making suggestions," Mahany said. "I am not ready to substitute Mr. Chesterman or his committee for the voters of my district.

"As these bills come up, let us continue to vote on each and every one as the people back home want us to."

Mahany said that he will vote for three Chesterman bills up for final passage next Monday. The three include a proposed constitutional amendment to authorize the Legislature to set up qualifications for the post of superintendent of public instruction.

The other two measures would limit the amount of reimbursement by the commonwealth to financially-distressed school districts and spell out the term of all cabinet officers as including the time until a successor is appointed and qualified.

20 Bills Approved

An additional 20 Chesterman bills won Senate committee approval yesterday.

The lone Chesterman measure approved yesterday would place the State Historical and Museum Commission, an independent agency at present, under administration of the Department of Public Instruction.

Only senators voting consistently in favor of all six Chesterman bills yesterday were Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) and Elmer J. Holland (D-Allegney).

Heading the list of those rejected was a proposed constitutional amendment abolishing the Department of Internal Affairs. Others voted down would:

Require repayment of tuition costs by state teachers college graduates who fail to comply with agreement to teach in the commonwealth's public schools.

Transfer the functions of the Bureau of Standard Weights and Measures from Internal Affairs to the Department of Labor and Industry.

Other Measures

Substitute advisory boards named by the superintendent of public instruction for present boards of trustees at state teachers colleges.

Provide for the appointment of notaries public by the secretary of the commonwealth rather than by the governor with confirmation by the Senate.

Republicans voted almost to the man against the Chesterman proposals. Democrats were split.

"We talk economy but when an economy bill comes up we find means of voting against it," charged Sen. John J. Haluska. The Cambria County Democratic caucus chairman himself voted in favor of almost every Chesterman bill.

Democratic floor leader Dent, on the other hand, voiced disillusionment with the Chesterman Committee proposals as a whole.

"I'm afraid a ghastly joke has been played on the public in promises of great economies," Dent said. "I think that if followed, many of these proposals would give us not a better government but a more bureaucratic one."

WANT RULING ON SUSPENSIONS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The State Department of Justice wants the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to make it tougher to regain a driving license suspended for speeding.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Robert C. Ryder asked the high court yesterday to give lower courts "some sound ruling" on which to base decisions in speeding cases.

Ryder said continued revocation of suspensions in county courts across the state means "the state's traffic laws are going to fall to pieces."

8 Are Involved

The case involves eight Butler County motorists whose driving privileges were withdrawn for 90 days on speeding charges. They regained their licenses by going to the Butler County Court. Ryder then appealed to the Supreme Court to wipe out the action and reinstate the suspensions.

The high court will hand down its opinion later.

U. S. MEDIATOR STRIVES TO END RAIL STRIKE

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A federal mediator sought today to bring an early end to a railroad strike which has forced closing of four big U. S. Steel Corp. plants in the Pittsburgh area and idled some 35,000 steelworkers.

Warren Lane of the National Mediation Board, armed with instructions to do everything possible to settle the walkout, arrived here yesterday from Washington and opened exploratory talks. There was no immediate indication of any progress.

About 1,500 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen struck the Union Railroad Co. Monday night over the suspension for 10 days of two conductors accused of leading a slowdown. Pickets soon idled 3,000 other railroad employes.

Steel Plants Closed

Shutdown of the railroad, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel, immediately halted supplies of raw materials to steel plants in nearby Homestead, Braddock, Duquesne and Clairton. The carrier also hauls finished products from the mills and serves various departments within them.

U. S. Steel estimates the strike is causing the loss of 25,000 tons of steel daily. The four plants have an annual capacity of nine million tons, compared with the national total of 117 million.

Other firms served by the railroad are not expected to be affected immediately. But unless the strike is settled quickly, it may force into idleness seven coal mines of Big Steel in Western Pennsylvania, employing about 12,000 United Mine Workers.

Illegal Strike

Both the Union Railroad and the BRT say the strike is not authorized. However, Quentin C. Gabriel, chairman of the three BRT lodges on the railroad, said the grievance committee demands restoration of the two conductors to their jobs with lost-time pay. Then, he says, the walkout will end.

The railroad said the conductors led a slowdown after employes were ordered to stop quitting work early. Gabriel said the suspended men "were nothing but guinea pigs the company picked out to terrorize somebody else."

INTRODUCE BILL

A bill to permit business corporations to grant allowances to dependents of employes after their death or retirement was introduced in the state senate Tuseday jointly by Senators Donald P. McPherson Jr., Republican, Adams, and Senator Mallory.

Preventing Grape Black Rot

Black rot causes greater losses of grapes throughout the East and North than all other diseases combined to which grapes are susceptible. Because the trouble cannot be cured after the ravages are seen, emphasis must be placed on prevention. Such measures must start even before spring growth appears and continue until three or four weeks before grapes begin to ripen.

Certain less widely grown varieties are partially resistant to black rot. These include Campbell Early, Delaware, Diamond, Dracut Moore Early, Portland, and Worden

Black rot is a fungous disease. The fungus lives over winter in mummied grapes infected the previous year, on leaves and in or on other litter left near the vines. With the arrival of warm, moist days in spring, new spores are produced which attack and infect the shoots and new foliage. On this point it is important for all grape growers to remember that rot fungi may attack and injure not only the fruit but the leaves, shoots, and blossoms. Herein is seen the necessity for starting prevention measures before grape buds unfold their first leaves.

Three phases of combat are stressed — sanitation, spraying, and reduction of over-winter spore numbers. The third or last step is, of course, closely related to the first.

In late fall or early spring, in fact, any time before grape vines put forth their new shoots, all fallen grape leaves, broken branches, and related litter, including other vegetative wastes near the plants, should be turned under deeply. This precaution prevents spores. And in this effort it is well to remember that the fewer surviving spores the lighter the infection.

Then too, a sound and consistent spraying program to reduce black rot is a profitable investment for all grape growers. If rot was severe last year, the first application should be made when new shoots are less than half inch long. This consists of 3—5—50 Bordeaux mixture, applied so all exposed parts of the vine and soil around the base are liberally coated with the fungicide.

The second application, 6consisting of 1½—2½—50 or 2—2½—50 Bordeaux mixture, should be made when the shoots are four to six inches long or about two weeks after the first spray. Thereafter three additional applications of Bordeaux misture are advises — just before grape blossoms open, when blossoms have dropped, and when grapes begin to touch in the clusters. If the weather is damp and warm when grapes are just about to begin ripening, make another application for safe insurance.

Every grape grower should write the editor at once, enclosing a stamped and addressed envelope, for a free copy of our revised grape spray schedule. This recommends added insecticides to the second and third recommended sprays to provide protection from common insect enemies. Bordeaux mixture should be made at home to obtain a full-strength solution. This information, also, may be procured by writing the editor — simple directions for making all strengths of the fungicide.

Grape growers cannot afford to pursue longer the careless habit of waiting until black rot appears late in the summer and then writing the editor insistently for advice on how to curb the trouble. Control is impossible; prevention is the key.

GROWING CHINA ASTERS

China asters are among the most hardy and otherwise satisfactory ornamentals to bring color to the August and September flower garden. They belong to the genus Callistephus. And the species known as China aster is Callistephus chinensis.

Several years ago this annual fell into disrepute when a wilt disease threatened to wipe out the species. But because it has won a permanent place in the hearts of growers, seedmen began work and developed several strains so nearly wilt-resistant that they may now be grown with few fears of wilt infection.

Seed for extra early flowers should be sown at once in a sunny window box, warm coldframe or mild hotbed. To reduce dangers of damping-off, seed flat soil should be disinfected before use and the tiny plants should be moved to individual pots or bands as soon as they develop a pair of true leaves. Thereafter they should be kept thriving in a sunny coldframe until they may be moved safely to their growing place in early May. Most varieties flower in 14 to 18 weeks after sowing seed. Late varieties are grown from seed sown in the open in late April or early May. These will come into bloom in September.

Soil for seed flats and individual plant containers should be obtained from a location where asters have never grown. The growing site should be prepared by spading under weathered and pulverized manure gathered from a pasture field. Sandy loams are preferred and in all cases the soil should be deeply mellow with organic matter. Hard and shallow soils should never be selected for this flower.

Before plants are set out some 5—10—5 fertilizer should be broadcast and worked into the top soil at the rate of 2 to 2½ pounds to 100 square feet. Because China asters require a neutral or slightly alkaline soil, lime should be applied if tests show the soil is acid.

Plants should be spaced 9 to 12 inches apart in rows wide enough to permit tillage.

To grow large flowers for display it is necessary to pinch off side shoots after buds develop and throw all the plant's strength into the remaining bloom.

Black blister beetles often attack China asters about the time flowers open. This precludes the use of insecticidal sprays to combat the pests. Therefore, the beetles should be jarred into a pail of water with a film of kerosene on the surface. If this work is done early in the morning when the beetles are sluggish, most of them can be captured.

Aster yellows is a virus disease spread by a grayish leafhopper and usually carried from wild asters. Affected plant foliage turns pale and short-branched shoots develop from the main stem. Because no sprays can reach the virus infection, control depends on keeping the leafhoppers killed off by spraying with pyrethrum or dusting infested plans with a sulphur-pyrethrum dust.

Root aphids cause China aster plants to turn yellow and wither. Ants are often guilty of carrying these aphids to asters and protecting them there. When root aphids are discovered, apply finely ground tobacco stems or tobacco dust around the plants, cover lightly with soil and then water the tobacco strength into the rooting stratum. Wage war on ant colonies nearby.

STILL HOPEFUL OF PASSING SOME ECONOMY BILLS

By JOHN KOENIG JR

HARRISBURG (AP)—Sen. Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) held out hope today for passage of some Chesterman Committee economy bills despite the decisive defeat of five out of six such measures.

"There are many bills yet to come up for a vote," said the Senate Republican floor leader. "We may find some real nuggets aong them."

Mahany himself led the parade of those who have failed to find any "nuggets" so far as he voted against all six of the bills acted upon in the Senate yesterday.

The GOP leader had joined Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, in sponsoring the vast pile of bills based on Chesterman findings aimed at saving the commonwealth 100 million dollars by 1960.

Mahany has emphasized, however, that he co-sponsored the bills merely to get them on the floor for debate in speedy fashion—that his name upon them does not mean necessarily that he favors them.

Only Advisory Group

"The Chesterman Committee is merely an advisory committee making suggestions," Mahany said. "I am not ready to substitute Mr. Chesterman or his committee for the voters of my district.

"As these bills come up, let us continue to vote on each and every one as the people back home want us to."

Mahany said that he will vote for three Chesterman bills up for final passage next Monday. The three include a proposed constitutional amendment to authorize the Legislature to set up qualifications for the post of superintendent of public instruction.

The other two measures would limit the amount of reimbursement by the commonwealth to financially-distressed school districts and spell out the term of all cabinet officers as including the time until a successor is appointed and qualified.

20 Bills Approved

An additional 20 Chesterman bills won Senate committee approval yesterday.

The lone Chesterman measure approved yesterday would place the State Historical and Museum Commission, an independent agency at present, under administration of the Department of Public Instruction.

Only senators voting consistently in favor of all six Chesterman bills yesterday were Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) and Elmer J. Holland (D-Allegney).

Heading the list of those rejected was a proposed constitutional amendment abolishing the Department of Internal Affairs. Others voted down would:

Require repayment of tuition costs by state teachers college graduates who fail to comply with agreement to teach in the commonwealth's public schools.

Transfer the functions of the Bureau of Standard Weights and Measures from Internal Affairs to the Department of Labor and Industry.

Other Measures

Provide for the appointment of notaries public by the secretary of the commonwealth rather than by the governor with confirmation by the Senate.

Republicans voted almost to the man against the Chesterman proposals. Democrats were split.

"We talk economy but when an economy bill comes up we find means of voting against it," charged Sen. John J. Haluska. The Cambria County Democratic caucus chairman himself voted in favor of almost every Chesterman bill.

Democratic floor leader Dent, on the other hand, voiced disillusionment with the Chesterman Committee proposals as a whole.

"I'm afraid a ghastly joke has been played on the public in promises of great economies," Dent said. "I think that if followed, many of these proposals would give us not a better government but a more bureaucratic one."

WANT RULING ON SUSPENSIONS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The State Department of Justice wants the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to make it tougher to regain a driving license suspended for speeding.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Robert C. Ryder asked the high court yesterday to give lower courts "some sound ruling" on which to base decisions in speeding cases.

Ryder said continued revocation of suspensions in county courts across the state means "the state's traffic laws are going to fall to pieces."

8 Are Involved

The case involves eight Butler County motorists whose driving privileges were withdrawn for 90 days on speeding charges. They regained their licenses by going to the Butler County Court. Ryder then appealed to the Supreme Court to wipe out the action and reinstate the suspensions.

The high court will hand down its opinion later.

U. S. MEDIATOR STRIVES TO END RAIL STRIKE

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A federal mediator sought today to bring an early end to a railroad strike which has forced closing of four big U. S. Steel Corp. plants in the Pittsburgh area and idled some 35,000 steelworkers.

Warren Lane of the National Mediation Board, armed with instructions to do everything possible to settle the walkout, arrived here yesterday from Washington and opened exploratory talks. There was no immediate indication of any progress.

About 1,500 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen struck the Union Railroad Co. Monday night over the suspension for 10 days of two conductors accused of leading a slowdown. Pickets soon idled 3,000 other railroad employes.

Steel Plants Closed

Shutdown of the railroad, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel, immediately halted supplies of raw materials to steel plants in nearby Homestead, Braddock, Duquesne and Clairton. The carrier also hauls finished products from the mills and serves various departments within them.

U. S. Steel estimates the strike is causing the loss of 25,000 tons of steel daily. The four plants have an annual capacity of nine million tons, compared with the national total of 117 million.

Other firms served by the railroad are not expected to be affected immediately. But unless the strike is settled quickly, it may force into idleness seven coal mines of Big Steel in Western Pennsylvania, employing about 12,000 United Mine Workers.

Illegal Strike

Both the Union Railroad and the BRT say the strike is not authorized. However, Quentin C. Gabriel, chairman of the three BRT lodges on the railroad, said the grievance committee demands restoration of the two conductors to their jobs with lost-time pay. Then, he says, the walkout will end.

The railroad said the conductors led a slowdown after employes were ordered to stop quitting work early. Gabriel said the suspended men "were nothing but guinea pigs the company picked out to terrorize somebody else."

INTRODUCE BILL

A bill to permit business corporations to grant allowances to dependents of employes after their death or retirement was introduced in the state senate Tuseday jointly by Senators Donald P. McPherson Jr., Republican, Adams, and Senator Mallory.

Preventing Grape Black Rot

Black rot causes greater losses of grapes throughout the East and North than all other diseases combined to which grapes are susceptible. Because the trouble cannot be cured after the ravages are seen, emphasis must be placed on prevention. Such measures must start even before spring growth appears and continue until three or four weeks before grapes begin to ripen.

Certain less widely grown varieties are partially resistant to black rot. These include Campbell Early, Delaware, Diamond, Dracut Moore Early, Portland, and Worden

Black rot is a fungous disease. The fungus lives over winter in mummied grapes infected the previous year, on leaves and in or on other litter left near the vines. With the arrival of warm, moist days in spring, new spores are produced which attack and infect the shoots and new foliage. On this point it is important for all grape growers to remember that rot fungi may attack and injure not only the fruit but the leaves, shoots, and blossoms. Herein is seen the necessity for starting prevention measures before grape buds unfold their first leaves.

Three phases of combat are stressed — sanitation, spraying, and reduction of over-winter spore numbers. The third or last step is, of course, closely related to the first.

In late fall or early spring, in fact, any time before grape vines put forth their new shoots, all fallen grape leaves, broken branches, and related litter, including other vegetative wastes near the plants, should be turned under deeply. This precaution prevents spores. And in this effort it is well to remember that the fewer surviving spores the lighter the infection.

Then too, a sound and consistent spraying program to reduce black rot is a profitable investment for all grape growers. If rot was severe last year, the first application should be made when new shoots are less than half inch long. This consists of 3—5—50 Bordeaux mixture, applied so all exposed parts of the vine and soil around the base are liberally coated with the fungicide.

The second application, 6consisting of 1½—2½—50 or 2—2½—50 Bordeaux mixture, should be made when the shoots are four to six inches long or about two weeks after the first spray. Thereafter three additional applications of Bordeaux misture are advises — just before grape blossoms open, when blossoms have dropped, and when grapes begin to touch in the clusters. If the weather is damp and warm when grapes are just about to begin ripening, make another application for safe insurance.

Every grape grower should write the editor at once, enclosing a stamped and addressed envelope, for a free copy of our revised grape spray schedule. This recommends added insecticides to the second and third recommended sprays to provide protection from common insect enemies. Bordeaux mixture should be made at home to obtain a full-strength solution. This information, also, may be procured by writing the editor — simple directions for making all strengths of the fungicide.

Grape growers cannot afford to pursue longer the careless habit of waiting until black rot appears late in the summer and then writing the editor insistently for advice on how to curb the trouble. Control is impossible; prevention is the key.

GROWING CHINA ASTERS

China asters are among the most hardy and otherwise satisfactory ornamentals to bring color to the August and September flower garden. They belong to the genus Callistephus. And the species known as China aster is Callistephus chinensis.

Several years ago this annual fell into disrepute when a wilt disease threatened to wipe out the species. But because it has won a permanent place in the hearts of growers, seedmen began work and developed several strains so nearly wilt-resistant that they may now be grown with few fears of wilt infection.

Seed for extra early flowers should be sown at once in a sunny window box, warm coldframe or mild hotbed. To reduce dangers of damping-off, seed flat soil should be disinfected before use and the tiny plants should be moved to individual pots or bands as soon as they develop a pair of true leaves. Thereafter they should be kept thriving in a sunny coldframe until they may be moved safely to their growing place in early May. Most varieties flower in 14 to 18 weeks after sowing seed. Late varieties are grown from seed sown in the open in late April or early May. These will come into bloom in September.

Soil for seed flats and individual plant containers should be obtained from a location where asters have never grown. The growing site should be prepared by spading under weathered and pulverized manure gathered from a pasture field. Sandy loams are preferred and in all cases the soil should be deeply mellow with organic matter. Hard and shallow soils should never be selected for this flower.

Before plants are set out some 5—10—5 fertilizer should be broadcast and worked into the top soil at the rate of 2 to 2½ pounds to 100 square feet. Because China asters require a neutral or slightly alkaline soil, lime should be applied if tests show the soil is acid.

Plants should be spaced 9 to 12 inches apart in rows wide enough to permit tillage.

To grow large flowers for display it is necessary to pinch off side shoots after buds develop and throw all the plant's strength into the remaining bloom.

Black blister beetles often attack China asters about the time flowers open. This precludes the use of insecticidal sprays to combat the pests. Therefore, the beetles should be jarred into a pail of water with a film of kerosene on the surface. If this work is done early in the morning when the beetles are sluggish, most of them can be captured.

Aster yellows is a virus disease spread by a grayish leafhopper and usually carried from wild asters. Affected plant foliage turns pale and short-branched shoots develop from the main stem. Because no sprays can reach the virus infection, control depends on keeping the leafhoppers killed off by spraying with pyrethrum or dusting infested plans with a sulphur-pyrethrum dust.

Root aphids cause China aster plants to turn yellow and wither. Ants are often guilty of carrying these aphids to asters and protecting them there. When root aphids are discovered, apply finely ground tobacco stems or tobacco dust around the plants, cover lightly with soil and then water the tobacco strength into the rooting stratum. Wage war on ant colonies nearby.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FOOL

Today I'll drink the cup of tea
With salt where sugar ought to be,
And think it well worth while to hear
The youngsters' laughter loud and clear.

For Mr. Fox I'll telephone—
As if for years I hadn't known
That Mr. Fox is now on view,
A captive of the city zoo.

If I should see a purse today,
I know it will be pulled away
And shouts of April Fool will be
Immediately hurled at me.

Not once a year a fool am I,
But every day that passes by.
To see their eyes with twinkles shine
I count the best reward of mine.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FATHER

I am not a Catholic but I love the name of father which this religion gives to its priests. I am sure that it inspires reverence and deep respect on the part of every one who pronounces this name. Jesus, in his ministry, again and again used this name to those with whom He came in contact. "The Father and I," said He, "are one."

In addressing our prayers to our Heavenly Father, we emphasize our kinship to God, and our relationship to Him as our guardian and ever watchful Father, always ready to understand and forgive, to give aid and sustenance, comfort and hope. To Him we go in prayer for guidance and for relaxation of mind and heart. Alone, and in silence, we can commune with Him as with no earthly father. It matters not to Him the language that we may use, for it is the spirit in which we go to Him that has its significance.

When we no longer have our earthly father we miss him more than words can express. We recall his every kindness, and his many sacrifices, as he worked and arranged for our comfort. A great father is only matched by a great mother. Never do I note the crowds of fathers coming out of a large manufacturing plant or commercial organization, without thinking of all that goes on in the mind of each as he wends his way home to his family.

I keep thinking of the fathers in Korea, giving of themselves, and of the thoughts of their loved ones at home, and of all those who have rendered to the world their very lives as the supreme sacrifice, their memory hallowed forever. Never can they be adequately honored.

To become the father of one, or many, is a thing of pride. No father should ever shirk his responsibility and his opportunity to be a good father. It is an achievement that far outweighs all others. And to every good father every child owes respect and an endless debt of gratitude. We never have but one father!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject "An Old Master."

TURN DOWN 2 CHESTERMAN ECONOMY BILLS

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Chesterman economy bill to abolish the Department of Internal Affairs was rejected Tuesday by the Senate. The vote was 33-12.

The action followed quickly after that branch defeated another Chesterman bill to require graduates of state teachers colleges to reimburse the state for their tuition if they fail to take teaching jobs on their graduation.

The measures were among a large number of bills placed before the legislature to carry out economies proposed by the Chesterman State Survey Committee.

One Vote For Bill

Sen. George N. Wade (R-Cumberland) was the only Republican senator voting for the proposal to abolish the Department of Internal Affairs.

The bill was in the form of an amendment to the State Constitution since the department is an elective one set up under the constitution.

William S. Livengood Jr., secretary of internal affairs, is serving his fourth term in the office, which compiles statistics of governmental operations among other things.

The vote on the state college tuition bill was 43-3. Those voting for it were Sens. Elmer J. Holland (D-Allegheny); John J. Haluska (D-Cambria) and Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton).

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, and Sen. John M. Walker (R-Allegheny) said the measure in its present form was unconstitutional.

BALD MAYOR HOPES FOR HAIR

READING, Pa. (AP) — Mayor James B. Banford, who says he's been as bald as an Easter egg for 20 of his 45 years, has new hope today for a crop of fuzz—or something better.

Banford said he had received from Donald S. Gates, an Albright professor, a "sure cure" formula for baldness uncovered by Gates in thumbing through a book published in 1742.

The formula's ingredients:

Two ounces of boar's grease, one dram (about 60 grains by present apothecary weight) of ashes of burnt bees, one dram of ashes of southern wood, one dram of juice of white dilly root (the dilly is a small hardwood tree found in Florida), one dram of oil of sweet almonds, and six drams of pure musk.

"I think I can get hold of those other things," said Banford, "but what's worrying me are those burnt bees."

FOUR RESCUED FROM LEDGE OF BURNING HOTEL

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The rear portion of the seven-story Strand Hotel on this resort's famed Broadwalk was gutted on Monday by fire that caused damaged estimated unoficially at nearly one million dollars.

The blaze forced a man and three women onto a narrow outside ledge 90 feet above the street, where they were trapped for 40 minutes before they could be rescued.

Only about 20 gusts were staying at the 300-room hotel at Pennsylvania Ave. and the Boardwalk. No one was reported seriously hurt in the fire.

Parts of the brick hotel are more than half a century old. A new front portion—nine stories high—was only slightly damaged by smoke and water.

The dramatic rescue of the four persons from the two-foot wide ledge on the seventh floor attracted hundreds of spectators.

Firemen Save Four

Firemen raised extension ladders to rescue Mrs. Edna Schoenchal, 63, a permanent guest; Mr. and Mrs. Abe Cooper, of Passiac, and Mrs. Catherine Killullen, 60, a maid at the hotel.

All but Cooper were brought down the ladder. He was led through the smoke-filled interior of the hotel and taken to the street.

The general alarm blaze raged out of control for more than two hours. Strong winds, blowing towards the ocean, fanned the flames and helped spread the blaze. Two firemen were hurt.

The Chalfonte-Haddon Hall Hotel, located just 20 feet away from the burning wing of the Strand, was undamaged. A protective device—

WASHINGTON (AP)—Party-splitting battle lines were drawn today over a proposed law that would curtail President Eisenhower's power to lower tariffs to stimulate foreign trade.

The bill was introduced Monday by Rep. Richard M Simpson (R-Pa.) third-ranking GOP member of the tariff-handling House Ways and Means committee. It would extend the Reciprocal Trade Act for one year but clamp tight new curbs on it.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FOOL

Today I'll drink the cup of tea
With salt where sugar ought to be,
And think it well worth while to hear
The youngsters' laughter loud and clear.

For Mr. Fox I'll telephone—
As if for years I hadn't known
That Mr. Fox is now on view,
A captive of the city zoo.

If I should see a purse today,
I know it will be pulled away
And shouts of April Fool will be
Immediately hurled at me.

Not once a year a fool am I,
But every day that passes by.
To see their eyes with twinkles shine
I count the best reward of mine.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FATHER

I am not a Catholic but I love the name of father which this religion gives to its priests. I am sure that it inspires reverence and deep respect on the part of every one who pronounces this name. Jesus, in his ministry, again and again used this name to those with whom He came in contact. "The Father and I," said He, "are one."

In addressing our prayers to our Heavenly Father, we emphasize our kinship to God, and our relationship to Him as our guardian and ever watchful Father, always ready to understand and forgive, to give aid and sustenance, comfort and hope. To Him we go in prayer for guidance and for relaxation of mind and heart. Alone, and in silence, we can commune with Him as with no earthly father. It matters not to Him the language that we may use, for it is the spirit in which we go to Him that has its significance.

When we no longer have our earthly father we miss him more than words can express. We recall his every kindness, and his many sacrifices, as he worked and arranged for our comfort. A great father is only matched by a great mother. Never do I note the crowds of fathers coming out of a large manufacturing plant or commercial organization, without thinking of all that goes on in the mind of each as he wends his way home to his family.

I keep thinking of the fathers in Korea, giving of themselves, and of the thoughts of their loved ones at home, and of all those who have rendered to the world their very lives as the supreme sacrifice, their memory hallowed forever. Never can they be adequately honored.

To become the father of one, or many, is a thing of pride. No father should ever shirk his responsibility and his opportunity to be a good father. It is an achievement that far outweighs all others. And to every good father every child owes respect and an endless debt of gratitude. We never have but one father!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject "An Old Master."

TURN DOWN 2 CHESTERMAN ECONOMY BILLS

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Chesterman economy bill to abolish the Department of Internal Affairs was rejected Tuesday by the Senate. The vote was 33-12.

The action followed quickly after that branch defeated another Chesterman bill to require graduates of state teachers colleges to reimburse the state for their tuition if they fail to take teaching jobs on their graduation.

The measures were among a large number of bills placed before the legislature to carry out economies proposed by the Chesterman State Survey Committee.

One Vote For Bill

Sen. George N. Wade (R-Cumberland) was the only Republican senator voting for the proposal to abolish the Department of Internal Affairs.

The bill was in the form of an amendment to the State Constitution since the department is an elective one set up under the constitution.

William S. Livengood Jr., secretary of internal affairs, is serving his fourth term in the office, which compiles statistics of governmental operations among other things.

The vote on the state college tuition bill was 43-3. Those voting for it were Sens. Elmer J. Holland (D-Allegheny); John J. Haluska (D-Cambria) and Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton).

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, and Sen. John M. Walker (R-Allegheny) said the measure in its present form was unconstitutional.

BALD MAYOR HOPES FOR HAIR

READING, Pa. (AP) — Mayor James B. Banford, who says he's been as bald as an Easter egg for 20 of his 45 years, has new hope today for a crop of fuzz—or something better.

Banford said he had received from Donald S. Gates, an Albright professor, a "sure cure" formula for baldness uncovered by Gates in thumbing through a book published in 1742.

The formula's ingredients:

Two ounces of boar's grease, one dram (about 60 grains by present apothecary weight) of ashes of burnt bees, one dram of ashes of southern wood, one dram of juice of white dilly root (the dilly is a small hardwood tree found in Florida), one dram of oil of sweet almonds, and six drams of pure musk.

"I think I can get hold of those other things," said Banford, "but what's worrying me are those burnt bees."

FOUR RESCUED FROM LEDGE OF BURNING HOTEL

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The rear portion of the seven-story Strand Hotel on this resort's famed Broadwalk was gutted on Monday by fire that caused damaged estimated unoficially at nearly one million dollars.

The blaze forced a man and three women onto a narrow outside ledge 90 feet above the street, where they were trapped for 40 minutes before they could be rescued.

Only about 20 gusts were staying at the 300-room hotel at Pennsylvania Ave. and the Boardwalk. No one was reported seriously hurt in the fire.

Parts of the brick hotel are more than half a century old. A new front portion—nine stories high—was only slightly damaged by smoke and water.

The dramatic rescue of the four persons from the two-foot wide ledge on the seventh floor attracted hundreds of spectators.

Firemen Save Four

Firemen raised extension ladders to rescue Mrs. Edna Schoenchal, 63, a permanent guest; Mr. and Mrs. Abe Cooper, of Passiac, and Mrs. Catherine Killullen, 60, a maid at the hotel.

All but Cooper were brought down the ladder. He was led through the smoke-filled interior of the hotel and taken to the street.

The general alarm blaze raged out of control for more than two hours. Strong winds, blowing towards the ocean, fanned the flames and helped spread the blaze. Two firemen were hurt.

The Chalfonte-Haddon Hall Hotel, located just 20 feet away from the burning wing of the Strand, was undamaged. A protective device—called a water curtain—was turned on, and cascades of water poured down the entire side of the Chalfonte.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Party-splitting battle lines were drawn today over a proposed law that would curtail President Eisenhower's power to lower tariffs to stimulate foreign trade.

The bill was introduced Monday by Rep. Richard M Simpson (R-Pa.) third-ranking GOP member of the tariff-handling House Ways and Means committee. It would extend the Reciprocal Trade Act for one year but clamp tight new curbs on it.

Fiscel Gets Honorable Mention In All-State Scholastic Cage Selections; Banks On 5th Team

Marlin "Skip" Fiscel, Gettysburg High basketball star, was one of four South Penn Conference players honored in the 1953 all-state selections announced today by The Associated Press.

Fiscel gained an honorable mention as did Jake Corwell, Chambersburg, and Fred Evans, Hershey. Ben Banks, Chambersburg, secured a spot on the fifth team. The four lads each earned positions on the first All-South Penn team announced last month.

By BEN FRENCH

HARRISBURG (AP) — Four high scorers and a "team player' today made up the 1953 All-Pennsylvania Schoolboy Basketball team selected for The Associated Press.

Sharon's Bob Atterholt, only junior on the starting five, is the steadying influence needed by any championship team. He balances out the quintet that represents the best in Pennsylvania high school basketball.

Over 100 Ballot

The team was selected by ballots of more than 100 sportswriters, coaches and sportscasters from what was regarded as Pennsylvania's best crop of schoolboy cage stars in decades. Any player on a Class A team, either public or Catholic, was eligible in the 16th annual balloting.

The Little All-State team, composed of players on Class B and C teams, will be released later in the week.

All of the starting five led their teams to league titles with the exception of Ricketts. However, the younger brother of Duquesne University's Dick Ricketts scored over 600 points as Pottstown battled Coatesville down to the wire in the Chest-Mont league.

Rickett's average of 27.3 points per game was the best in the state. Twenty-nine selectors mentioned the 6-1 ace on their ballots and he led the team with 231 vote-points.

Ten points were given for each first choice, nine for second, etc.

Atterholt, mentioned on 24 ballots, picked up 181 points to edge out Kalbfus who got 179 points on 19 ballots. Farrell was selected by 18 and Graybill by 15.

The voters paid a real tribute to Atterholt's ball-handling ability for his scoring was overshadowed by teammate Charlie Mitchell, a fourth-team selection.

However, the Sharon Ace was rated as an excellent all-round shot and one of the best rebounders in western Pennsylvania. He is the first junior named to the starting five since Julius McCoy, Farrell, and Joe Holup, Swoyersville, made the 1951 team.

Jumpin' Jack Kalbfus racked up 561 points in 22 regular season games and was the first player in the history ofthe WPIAL'S Section II to score over 300 points. All this was despite the fact Jack seldom played an entire game because of his team's complete domination of its league.

Tallest of the quintet is Mary Farrell, Old Forge's 6-6 whiz. The young giant dropped them in at the rate of 26 points per game as his Blue Devils won the Lackawanna League title and the District 2 PIAA crown.

Farrell was a bulwark on retrieving the ball as well as his offensive ability.

Graybill broke just about every Central Penn League record as he led the Harrisburg team to its first PIAA District 3 championship. His league record of 417 points and indicidual high of 55 against Lancaster eclipsed year-old marks held by York's Hal Brown of last year's all-state team. Over the entire 23-game season he dropped in 607 points.

Other selections include:

Second Team

Jack May, Norristown, 123 votes; Jack Weissman, Yeadon, 107; Carmen Riazzi, Erie Tech, 104; Jim Smith, Homestead, 98; Frank Reinhart, Allentown, 93.

Third Team

Fourth Team

Fifth Team

YOUNG GUILTY OF PERJURY

WASHINGTON (AP)—A decision on whether to appeal the perjury conviction of E. Merl Young may await his sentencing April 30, his attorney indicated today.

Neither Young nor James F. Reilly, his chief counsel, had anything to say after a U. S. District Court jury returned its verdict late yesterday. The jury deliberated about 2½ hours before convicting Young of swearing falsely four times. He was questioned in a congressional investigation of alleged "influence and favoritism" in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and later by a grand jury.

Each charge carries a possible penalty of two to 10 years. In most cases of multiple-count indictments the sentences imposed run together, rather than one after the other.

The jury found that Young deliberately lied when he testified that while employed as an RFC examiner he never had anything to do with loan applications filed by the Lustron Corp.

The other charges upon which he was convicted were based on Young's testimony concerning sources of his income and the amount of his indebtedness.

At a meeting here last night it was announced that the Army has given permission to bury Thorpe on the grounds of the Army War College, formerly the Carlisle Indian School, of which Thorpe was a graduate.

At the meeting, attended by a host of Thorpe's friends and admirers, Pennsylvania Gov. John S. Fine was named honorary chairman and John Steckbeck, coach at nearby Dickinson College, elected permanent chairman of the Thorpe memorial organization.

Consider Scholarship

Thorpe, who died Saturday at Lomita, Calif., achieved some of his greatest athletic triumphs as a representative of the Carlisle school.

The versatile Indian was named top athlete of the first half of the 20th century in Associated Press poll of sports writers two years ago.

The sponsoring group, which has telegraphed Thorpe's widow for permission to bring his body east for burial, also discussed the possibility of establishing a college scholarship in Thorpe's memory for a deserving boy or girl who might not otherwise be able to afford to attend an institution of higher learning.

OPEN CLOISTER IN DIOCESE

HARRISBURG, (AP)—The Most Rev. George L. Leech, bishop of the Harrisburg Roman Catholic Diocese, said today a new cloistered community of nuns will soon be established in Northumberland County.

The new monastery will begin with six nuns from the present Discalced Carmelite community in Loretto, Cambria County. The Rev. Mother Marguerite Marie, prioress at Loretto, will be superior of the new monastery.

Bishop Leech said he was naming a committee of Northumberland County priests to find a residence to serve as temporary headquarters for the new community.

The Discalced Carmelites date back to the year 1580 when their rule of life was formed by St. Theresa of Avila and St. John of God. The Northumberland County foundation is the 51st in this country.

PROTEST TRANSFER

HARRISBURG (AP) — Glenn A. Kitchen, a district game protector, was without assignment today pending a decision on a protest against his transfer from Carbon County to Clinton County.

The transfer was to have become effective today. But a group of Carbon County sportsmen lodged a protest against it with the State Game Commission yesterday.

"EZ" CHARLES, REX LAYNE TO FIGHT TONIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Former champion Ezzard Charles should find out tonight whether he is still a title contender or one of the ring's heavyweight has-beens. His 10-round nationally televised fight with husky Rex Layne is one of the most important in his 14-year career.

The bout is scheduled for 7 p. m. (10 p. m., EST.)

Charles, 31, is over the hill, and on his way down. Like so many champs before him, he has hopes of regaining the title he lost to Jersey Joe Walcott in 1951. He'll have to make good tonight or forget those dreams forever.

It's the big and perhaps final test for Ezzard, who incidentally is a 1 to 4 choice to make the grade and stay in contention as a top challenger.

Layne is 24 and considered still on the upgrade. It will be his third chance at Charles. He's a much improved fighter since he lost to his rival two years ago. Last August he took a close ten round decision over the Cincinnati Negro.

OIL LAND BILL PASSES HOUSE

Washington (AP)—The House today passed and sent to the Senate legislation establishing title for the states to oil-rich submerged coastal lands.

The measure was passed after a motion to shelve the bill was defeated, 283 to 106.

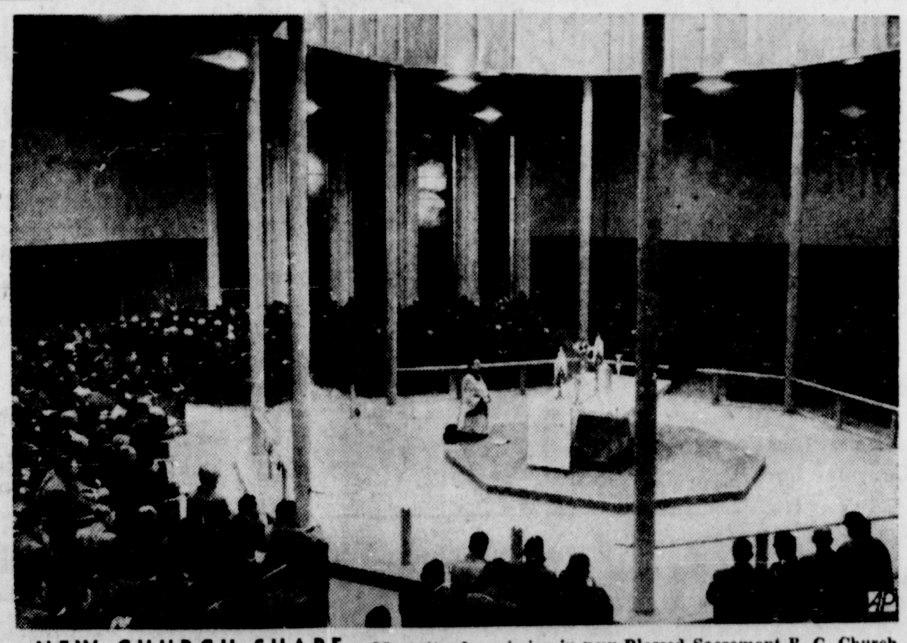

The roll call vote on final passage was 285 to 108.

The motion, to send the bill back to committee, was offered by Rep. (Celler D.-N.Y.) and supported by proponents of federal control of the oil-rich offshore lands.

Spring Or Fall, Yankees Can Stop The Brooklyn Dodgers

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sportswriter

Spring and fall the New York Yankees continue to bring fear to the hearts of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

No matter how well the Dodgers are going against the rest of the opposition, they finally grind to a dead stop when they run up against the Yankees.

It's happened in the World Series every time the two clubs have met and it happened again in the five-game Florida spring series that wound up yesterday in St. Petersburg.

Set Attendance Marks

Brooklyn won the first game of the series played two weeks ago, then promptly dropped the next two. When the series resumed Sunday Brooklyn won the fourth game on the sterling pitching of Montreal rookie Johnny Podres. But in the deciding contest, with their ace Carl Erskine on the mound, the Bums blew it, 4-2.

The game was the last of the spring at St. Petersburg, training ground for the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals. These two clubs set an all-time attendance record of 83,334 in 24 games at Al Lang Field.

Almost all of the other clubs are heading northward too., with the Philadelphia Phils winding up their stay at Clearwater today against the Yankees.

Pirates To Leave Last

The last to leave the Deep South will be the Pittsburgh Pirates, who won't come over to the mainland from Havana until the end of this week.

Yesterday, little Murry Dickson of the Pirates warmed up for his opening day assignment by going nine innings against the Pirates' B squad and winning, 7-4.

Bob Rush of the Chicago Cubs came within one putout of a nine-inning job against the St. Louis Browns at Mesa, Ariz., but he was lifted when the Browns rallied for three runs. The rally was short, however, and the Cubs won, 5-3.

Milwaukee's Braves pounded Philadelphia Phillies ace Robin Roberts for 11 hits in a 9-6 victory.

Giants Lose Again

A late rally gave Cincinnati a 6-3 verdict over Washington as the two teams met at Orlando, Fla., in the first of eight games on their way north.

Detroit and Cleveland had another field day in the runmaking department. The Tigers exploded for seven runs in the seventh inning against the Philadelphia Athletics and won, 13-7, at Lakeland, Fla. The Indians scored in double figures for the third straight day against ineffective New York Giant pitching, winning this time, 11-5, at Denver.

Troops Fight But Anxious To Hear Outcome Of Truce Talks

SEOUL (AP)—Small-scale but bitter fighting erupted along the Korean battlefront today as U. N. troops anxiously awaited the outcome of Communist truce overtures.

Most combat veterans were hopeful but wary.

The Fifth Air Force reported Allied Sabre jets blasted 33 Red MIG jets out of the Korean skies for only two Sabres lost in aerial combat in March.

The monthly air summary showed, however, that 18 Allied planes were lost to all causes — 2 to MIGs, 7 to Red ground fire and 9 to other causes.

Army Secretary Robert T. B. Stevens, Gen. Mark Clark, Far East commander; and Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Eighth Army commander, toured the battle zone and visited an observation post overlooking Communist - held Old Baldy Hll north of Seoul.

Stevens, in Korea to inspect the combat zone and for a first-hand survey of ammunition supplies, visited several U. S. divisions. At the 630th Ordnance Ammunition company, the Army secretary was told the ammunition supply at the moment was above normal.

When he returns to Washington, Stevens is expected to testify before a Senate subcommittee investigating reports of ammunition shortages in Korea.

Weather hampered aerial activities again.

American Marines on the Western Front turned back four small Red attacks Tuesday night, one against Bunker Hill. The Leathernecks listed 41 Chinese Reds killed and wounded.

In Eastern Korea South Korean troops reported killing or wounding 64 Reds in raids west of the Nam River and near Anchor Hill.

Fiscel Gets Honorable Mention In All-State Scholastic Cage Selections; Banks On 5th Team

Marlin "Skip" Fiscel, Gettysburg High basketball star, was one of four South Penn Conference players honored in the 1953 all-state selections announced today by The Associated Press.

Fiscel gained an honorable mention as did Jake Corwell, Chambersburg, and Fred Evans, Hershey. Ben Banks, Chambersburg, secured a spot on the fifth team. The four lads each earned positions on the first All-South Penn team announced last month.

By BEN FRENCH

HARRISBURG (AP) — Four high scorers and a "team player" today made up the 1953 All-Pennsylvania Schoolboy Basketball team selected for The Associated Press.

Sharon's Bob Atterholt, only junior on the starting five, is the steadying influence needed by any championship team. He balances out the quintet that represents the best in Pennsylvania high school basketball.

Over 100 Ballot

The team was selected by ballots of more than 100 sportswriters, coaches and sportscasters from what was regarded as Pennsylvania's best crop of schoolboy cage stars in decades. Any player on a Class A team, either public or Catholic, was eligible in the 16th annual balloting.

The Little All-State team, composed of players on Class B and C teams, will be released later in the week.

All of the starting five led their teams to league titles with the exception of Ricketts. However, the younger brother of Duquesne University's Dick Ricketts scored over 600 points as Pottstown battled Coatesville down to the wire in the Chest-Mont league.

Rickett's average of 27.3 points per game was the best in the state. Twenty-nine selectors mentioned the 6-1 ace on their ballots and he led the team with 231 vote-points.

Ten points were given for each first choice, nine for second, etc.

Atterholt, mentioned on 24 ballots, picked up 181 points to edge out Kalbfus who got 179 points on 19 ballots. Farrell was selected by 18 and Graybill by 15.

The voters paid a real tribute to Atterholt's ball-handling ability for his scoring was overshadowed by teammate Charlie Mitchell, a fourth-team selection.

However, the Sharon Ace was rated as an excellent all-round shot and one of the best rebounders in western Pennsylvania. He is the first junior named to the starting five since Julius McCoy, Farrell, and Joe Holup, Swoyersville, made the 1951 team.

Jumpin' Jack Kalbfus racked up 561 points in 22 regular season games and was the first player in the history ofthe WPIAL'S Section II to score over 300 points. All this was despite the fact Jack seldom played an entire game because of his team's complete domination of its league.

Tallest of the quintet is Mary Farrell, Old Forge's 6-6 whiz. The young giant dropped them in at the rate of 26 points per game as his Blue Devils won the Lackawanna League title and the District 2 PIAA crown.

Farrell was a bulwark on retrieving the ball as well as his offensive ability.

Graybill broke just about every Central Penn League record as he led the Harrisburg team to its first PIAA District 3 championship. His league record of 417 points and indicidual high of 55 against Lancaster eclipsed year-old marks held by York's Hal Brown of last year's all-state team. Over the entire 23-game season he dropped in 607 points.

Other selections include:

Second Team

Jack May, Norristown, 123 votes; Jack Weissman, Yeadon, 107; Carmen Riazzi, Erie Tech, 104; Jim Smith, Homestead, 98; Frank Reinhart, Allentown, 93.

Third Team

Fourth Team

Fifth Team

YOUNG GUILTY OF PERJURY

WASHINGTON (AP)—A decision on whether to appeal the perjury conviction of E. Merl Young may await his sentencing April 30, his attorney indicated today.

Neither Young nor James F. Reilly, his chief counsel, had anything to say after a U. S. District Court jury returned its verdict late yesterday. The jury deliberated about 2½ hours before convicting Young of swearing falsely four times. He was questioned in a congressional investigation of alleged "influence and favoritism" in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and later by a grand jury.

Each charge carries a possible penalty of two to 10 years. In most cases of multiple-count indictments the sentences imposed run together, rather than one after the other.

The jury found that Young deliberately lied when he testified that while employed as an RFC examiner he never had anything to do with loan applications filed by the Lustron Corp.

The other charges upon which he was convicted were based on Young's testimony concerning sources of his income and the amount of his indebtedness.

A Bit Of History About Your Own Adams County

This is the last in a series of historical talks given over Radio Station WGET by Dr. Robert Sager professor of history at Gettysburg College, on some of the outstanding events and interesting episodes in the development of Adams County.

In this article we shall continue the story of the beginnings of "Pennsylvania College of Gettysburg," an important institution in Adams County, by describing the salient features of the organization of the college.

The granting of the charter brought with it some problems that called for solution. The act of incorporation put the college "under the management, direction and government of all the subscribers to the funds of the said institution by whose private contributions, the said funds have been raised, and its present edifice purchased."

Five of the six local residents met with the ten stockholders of the Gymnasium on May 16, 1832, and were added to the list of patrons by each paying $25, thus qualifying for inclusion among these who were to manage, direct and govern the new institution.

Organize On July 4

Some other matters had to be settled, and the next day, May 17, 1832, a formal agreement was signed by those present, and Professors Schmucker and Hazelius (who had recently become a member of the Seminary faculty) and Mr. John B. McPherson was appointed a committee and given full authority to make all necessary arrangements for the formal organization of the college on the 4th of July of the same year.

Certain provisions of the charter determined the legal procedure in the organization of the college. Some things had to be done before the corporation could begin to function as an educational institution. The proper performance of these tasks constituted the organization of the college. This was done during the afternoon and evening of July 4th.

As is usual on such occasions, there was also a public ceremony which took place in the forenoon of July 4. These exercises took place in the local Presbyterian Church which was then located on the west side of North Washington St. just south of where the railroad tracks now cross the street. This was the church which had been built in 1813 when the congregation of the Upper Marsh Creek Church was transferred to it. In 1842 this congregation built its present church at Baltimore and High Sts.

Service At Church

The Adams Sentinel for July 10, 1832, reported the ceremony as follows: "The organization of Pennsylvania College took place on Wednesday last, the Fourth of July. Agreeably to previous arrangement, a procession was formed at half past ten o'clock at the Academy under the direction of General T. C. Miller and Col. M. C. Clarkson, marshals of the day . . . the procession moved to the Presbyterian Church and the line being open, the orator and officiating clergymen passed in, followed by the patrons, etc., in inverted order.

"An appropriate hymn was sung by the choir, accompanied by instrumental music, after which a most fervent and impressive prayer was offered up to the throne of grace by the Rev. William Paxton, D.D. An address was then delivered by the Hon Calvin Blythe of Harrisburg. . . . After another hymn by the choir the ceremonies were closed with the benediction by the Rev. Dr. Schmucker of York. The procession then moved to the Court House and was dismissed. The patrons, and a large number of strangers and citizens partook of a public dinner prepared for the occasion at the Franklin House."

"Favorable Impression"

The public ceremony made a favorable impression on those who witnessed it, and recommended the institution soon to begin its active service. The closing words of the principal address by the Hon. Calvin Blythe proved prophetic:

"The institution organized this day, there is every reason to believe will prove a valuable auxiliary in the great cause of education. Located in a healthy community in the midst of an active and intelligent people, under the direction of men of approved learning and ability, it may with confidence be predicted that it will receive, as it assuredly will deserve, the public patronage."

The charter placed the control of the college in the hands of those who had subscribed to the fund for purchasing the building. They were given power to elect a Board of Trustees, 21 in number, to have power in turn to transact all business and be liable for all obligations. The patrons had met as a corporation first on May 16 and 17, 1832, when they accepted the charter, and made arrangements for the events of July 4th. At 3 p.m. on July 4th they met to complete the business necessary for the formal organization. The principal business was the election of the 21 trustees. Not all of those elected were in Gettysburg at that time, but those who were met in the evening of the same day and organized the board by electing Judge Blythe president, the Rev. Dr. John G. Morris of Baltimore, secretary, and Mr. John B. McPherson of the Bank of Gettysburg treasurer.

Faculty Is Selected

The first item of business of the board, after organization, was the selection of a faculty. The two teachers in the Gymnasium, the Rev. Michael Jacobs and the Rev. H. L. Baugher, were elected at salary. The Rev. Mr. Baugher was made "professor of Greek and Belles Letters," and the Rev. Mr. Jacobs was made "professor of mathematics, chemistry and natural philosophy." To these were added the two professors in the Seminary, the Revs. Schmucker and Hazelius, who consented to teach certain courses without compensation.

Also there was added, as a part-time teacher of minerology and botany at some compensation, the Rev. J. H. Marsden, who had his principal position as principal of the Gettysburg Female Academy. Later a Mr. Friederici was added as teacher in the Preparatory of the work done in the Gymnasium which was preparatory to the college course. Such a department was continued until 1935.

The organization on July 4th took place while the Gymnasium was in its regular summer semester. It was decided to continue that session until its regular time of closing, and open the college on November 7, 1832.

Plan Curriculum

During the weeks which followed, the curriculum of the new college was planned, certainly by the faculty, all of whom were already in Gettysburg. The curriculum was formally announced on August 29. It provided for the traditional college subjects but was advanced in the number of scientific and philosophical subjects included. It is difficult to compare the entrance requirements to college of that day with those of later day. At Pennsylvania College the same indefinite standards were set but it is certain that they compared favorably with the best colleges of that day. The founders aimed to make it a first-class institution from the beginning, and they seemed to have succeeded, if the curriculum is any basis for judgment.

The establishment of Pennsylvania College was generally, though not universally, pleasing to the Lutheran Church of the country of that day. A few were somewhat skeptical about such institutions, but the church as a whole rejoiced and considered this an achievement of significance as it was the first college in America with Lutheran connections.

In like manner, almost all the citizens of Gettysburg and Adams County were happy to have the benefit of a college in their midst, giving to their community what only a very few communities of that day enjoyed. Yet there was opposition. The local press was divided. This was because the college became involved, without blame on the part of its promoters, in the bitter partisan campaign of political anti-Masonry. This passed away, however, in a short time. In fact, the leading anti-Mason, Thaddeus Stevens, soon became one of the staunchest and most useful friends of the college.

Precarious Beginning

The college began its work on November 7, 1832, but for a few years its life was precarious. It had no president until 1834. It had no library, and very little furnishings and equipment. Its building was every inc 'equate. Its income was uncertain. It had, of course, no endowment.

In 1834 the Pennsylvania Legislature made an appropriation of $18,000, largely for an adequate building, and other gifts were received. With the evidences of support, the students continued to come, and after a few years the future of the college was assured.

After 120 years of life and servic the college has a brighter future than ever in its long history. Building on the unbroken span of 120 years under but seven presidents over this long career, Pennsylvania College, since 1921 officially called Gettysburg College, will go forward under its new administration of its eighth president as Adams County's most valued institution.

DOWAGER QUEEN OF ENGLAND IS BURIED TUESDAY

WINDSOR, England (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II cast symbolic earth upon the coffin of her grandmother Queen Mary Tuesday, and saw the body committed to the ages in the ancient tomb of British royalty.

The 85-year-old dowager Queen was buried beneath St. George's Chapel of Windsor Castle, beside the King-husband she survived by 17 years. The Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, spoke the committal rites of the 40-minute Church of England service.

The royalty of 13 nations and that prince of commoners, Prime Minister Winston Churchill, watched as the reigning Queen, almost 60 years junior to the dead Queen grandmother, paid her homage by sprinkling the earth upon the coffin—just as she had done 13 months ago for her father, George VI.

Windsor Pays Respects

A moment later the eldest son, the Duke of Windsor—he who caused Mary so much joy and so much heartbreak—came forward. He stood for silent seconds reflecting beside the opening in the floor of the chapel into which the body of his mother had been lowered. Then he bowed deeply and walked out into the sunshine with shoulders stooped.

Queen Mary's body was borne 25 miles in the early dawn from London where it had lain in state in historic Westminster Hall for two days while 120,000 mourners filed past.

As the brief service began, the dull tolling of the funeral bell atop the chapel told the people of ancient Windsor Town that Queen Mary was nearing her final rest. Many bared their heads and crowds numbering several hundred stood reverent and hushed. Windsor's townfolk knew Queen Mary well. She often stayed at Windsor Castle and through the years had prayed in the chapel.

Four Dukes Present

Throughout the service, the Duke of Windsor stood at the foot of his mother's coffin while the catafalque rested in the choir of the chapel. Beside him were the other royal dukes—Edinburg, Gloucester and Kent.

Queen Elizabeth II, slender, all in black and heavily veiled, stood nearest the coffin, in a place ordinarily reserved for a knight of the garter. At a nod from the archbishop, she stepped forward as the coffin was slowly lowered.

From an attendant holding a silver bowl, she took a bit of earth from the garden of Frogmore House, where Queen Mary spent some of the happiest years of her long life.

Three times she reached out to sprinkle some of it on the coffin as the archbishop committed Queen Mary's body to the ground — "earth to earth, ashes to ashes, and dust to dust."

Then the Queen returned to her place beside Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret and Mary, the princess royal—Queen Mary's daughter.

Visiting Royalty Pay Respects

After the British royal family had done its obeisance, visiting royalty came up slowly in a long file. The men bowed in courtly fashion and the women curtseyed at the spot where the coffin was lowered to the vaults below.

They came other distinguished persons to say farewell to the Queen. Heading the line was Churchill, followed by members of the government and dozens of diplomats.

It was a service of strict formality and rigid dignity. It followed in general the funeral service of the Anglican Church as laid down in the Book of Common Prayer.

There was no sermon. The archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, had only one assistant, the Dean of windsor.

"Abide With Me," and "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken," two of Queen Mary's favorite hymns, echoed in the 477-year-old chapel. The chapel was built by King Edward IV and contains the remains of 10 British kings dating back to 1483.

1,500 In Chapel

There were about 1,500 persons in it today. Opposite the royal family sat Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, Queen Frederika of Greece and Princess Alice Countess of Athlone.

Behind Britain's royal family sat the crown prince of Norway, King Baudouin of Belgium and King Hussein of Jordan. There also were former King Umberto of Italy, Prince Chula of Thailand, Prince Bertil of Sweden, Prince Felix of Luxembourg, Prince George of Denmark and Prince Louis of the German house of Hesse.

Among the mourners was Oscar Humfrey, 78, chauffeur for 35 years to Queen Mary and her husband, King George V.

For the service, Queen Mary's body was brought to the identical spot on which the coffin of King George VI lay 13 months ago.

Queen Mary died last Tuesday after an illness of five weeks.

M'CARTHY TO DEFEND TRADE PACTS TODAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), whose lone-wolf effort to curb free world trading with the Communists kicked up a storm, goes to the State Department today to defend it.

McCarthy has been angling for the support of President Eisenhower in the move, involving an agreement he arranged among Greek owners of 242 merchant ships to refrain from hauling goods to Red China, North Korea, or between Communist ports.

Secretary of State Dulles has kept strict official silence on the agreement, as has the President. But Harold E. Stassen, mutual security director, denounced it as "undermining" Dulles' foreign policy objective of curtailing free world trade with Red nations.

Luncheon Conference

McCarthy announced yesterday that, pending a talk with Dulles, he was holding up negotiations to sign the Greek owners of 150 more ships to a similar agreement.

Dulles then invited McCarthy and Francis D. Flanagan, chief counsel of the Senate investigations subcommittee which the senator heads, to a luncheon conference on the issue.

McCarthy had told Stassen Monday in an angry public exchange that Flanagan and two aides, carrying on the bulk of the negotiations with the Greeks, had done in weeks what the State Department under Democratic Secretary Dean Acheson and Republican Dulles had failed to do in three years of effort.

Has Nash Backing

McCarthy goes to the meeting with Dulles fortified by testimony at a public hearing yesterday before the subcommittee by Frank C. Nash, assistant secretary of defense, that the Pentagon favors any move that will reduce the flow of goods from the free world to nations behind the Iron Curtain.

Nash said the military would applaud any McCarthy move in that direction if it did not interfere with over-all administration objectives.

15-Car Train Of Ammunition Blasted By B26

SEOUL (AP)—A mere handful of Communist patrols probed Allied lines along the 155-mile Korean battlefront Tuesday in the wake of bloody fighting on the western end of the line.

The day's biggest explosion was provided by a 15-car Communist ammunition train caught in the open by an American bomber.

Stormy skies curtailed aerial warfare, but some warplanes roared out at dawn to pound Red communications and frontline positions.

The Eighth Army reported light probing attacks in the Punch Bowl area on the Eastern Front and in the White Horse Mountain sector of Central Korea. All were turned back easily, the Army said.

No activity was reported on the Western Front where Marines on bloody Vegas Hill broke up two Chinese stabbing attacks Monday.

A B26 Invader spotted the Red train far up the Korean East Coast and Capt. Robert O. Self of Orlando, Fla., the observer, said two bombs landed right on the target.

"The whole train lit up," Self reported.

The locomotive and all 15 cars were listed as destroyed.

A Bit Of History About Your Own Adams County

This is the last in a series of historical talks given over Radio Station WGET by Dr. Robert Sager professor of history at Gettysburg College, on some of the outstanding events and interesting episodes in the development of Adams County.

In this article we shall continue the story of the beginnings of "Pennsylvania College of Gettysburg," an important institution in Adams County, by describing the salient features of the organization of the college.

The granting of the charter brought with it some problems that called for solution. The act of incorporation put the college "under the management, direction and government of all the subscribers to the funds of the said institution by whose private contributions, the said funds have been raised, and its present edifice purchased."

Five of the six local residents met with the ten stockholders of the Gymnasium on May 16, 1832, and were added to the list of patrons by each paying $25, thus qualifying for inclusion among these who were to manage, direct and govern the new institution.

Organize On July 4

Some other matters had to be settled, and the next day, May 17, 1832, a formal agreement was signed by those present, and Professors Schmucker and Hazelius (who had recently become a member of the Seminary faculty) and Mr. John B. McPherson was appointed a committee and given full authority to make all necessary arrangements for the formal organization of the college on the 4th of July of the same year.

Certain provisions of the charter determined the legal procedure in the organization of the college. Some things had to be done before the corporation could begin to function as an educational institution. The proper performance of these tasks constituted the organization of the college. This was done during the afternoon and evening of July 4th.

As is usual on such occasions, there was also a public ceremony which took place in the forenoon of July 4. These exercises took place in the local Presbyterian Church which was then located on the west side of North Washington St. just south of where the railroad tracks now cross the street. This was the church which had been built in 1813 when the congregation of the Upper Marsh Creek Church was transferred to it. In 1842 this congregation built its present church at Baltimore and High Sts.

Service At Church

The Adams Sentinel for July 10, 1832, reported the ceremony as follows: "The organization of Pennsylvania College took place on Wednesday last, the Fourth of July. Agreeably to previous arrangement, a procession was formed at half past ten o'clock at the Academy under the direction of General T. C. Miller and Col. M. C. Clarkson, marshals of the day . . . the procession moved to the Presbyterian Church and the line being open, the orator and officiating clergymen passed in, followed by the patrons, etc., in inverted order.

"An appropriate hymn was sung by the choir, accompanied by instrumental music, after which a most fervent and impressive prayer was offered up to the throne of grace by the Rev. William Paxton, D.D. An address was then delivered by the Hon Calvin Blythe of Harrisburg. . . . After another hymn by the choir the ceremonies were closed with the benediction by the Rev. Dr. Schmucker of York. The procession then moved to the Court House and was dismissed. The patrons, and a large number of strangers and citizens partook of a public dinner prepared for the occasion at the Franklin House."

"Favorable Impression"

The public ceremony made a favorable impression on those who witnessed it, and recommended the institution soon to begin its active service. The closing words of the principal address by the Hon. Calvin Blythe proved prophetic:

"The institution organized this day, there is every reason to believe will prove a valuable auxiliary in the great cause of education. Located in a healthy community in the midst of an active and intelligent people, under the direction of men of approved learning and ability, it may with confidence be predicted that it will receive, as it assuredly will deserve, the public patronage."

The charter placed the control of the college in the hands of those who had subscribed to the fund for purchasing the building. They were given power to elect a Board of Trustees, 21 in number, to have power in turn to transact all business and be liable for all obligations. The patrons had met as a corporation first on May 16 and 17, 1832, when they accepted the charter, and made arrangements for the events of July 4th. At 3 p.m. on July 4th they met to complete the business necessary for the formal organization. The principal business was the election of the 21 trustees. Not all of those elected were in Gettysburg at that time, but those who were met in the evening of the same day and organized the board by electing Judge Blythe president, the Rev. Dr. John G. Morris of Baltimore, secretary, and Mr. John B. McPherson of the Bank of Gettysburg treasurer.

Faculty Is Selected

The first item of business of the board, after organization, was the selection of a faculty. The two teachers in the Gymnasium, the Rev. Michael Jacobs and the Rev. H. L. Baugher, were elected at salary. The Rev. Mr. Baugher was made "professor of Greek and Belles Letters," and the Rev. Mr. Jacobs was made "professor of mathematics, chemistry and natural philosophy." To these were added the two professors in the Seminary, the Revs. Schmucker and Hazelius, who consented to teach certain courses without compensation.

Also there was added, as a part-time teacher of minerology and botany at some compensation, the Rev. J. H. Marsden, who had his principal position as principal of the Gettysburg Female Academy. Later a Mr. Friederici was added as teacher in the Preparatory of the work done in the Gymnasium which was preparatory to the college course. Such a department was continued until 1935.

The organization on July 4th took place while the Gymnasium was in its regular summer semester. It was decided to continue that session until its regular time of closing, and open the college on November 7, 1832.

During the weeks which followed, the curriculum of the new college was planned, certainly by the faculty, all of whom were already in Gettysburg. The curriculum was formally announced on August 29. It provided for the traditional college subjects but was advanced in the number of scientific and philosophical subjects included. After 120 years of life and service the college has a brighter future than ever in its long history. Building on the unbroken span of 120 years under but seven presidents over this long career, Pennsylvania College, since 1921 officially called Gettysburg College, will go forward under its new administration of its eighth president as Adams County's most valued institution.

DOWAGER QUEEN OF ENGLAND IS BURIED TUESDAY

WINDSOR, England (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II cast symbolic earth upon the coffin of her grandmother Queen Mary Tuesday, and saw the body committed to the ages in the ancient tomb of British royalty.

The 85-year-old dowager Queen was buried beneath St. George's Chapel of Windsor Castle, beside the King-husband she survived by 17 years. The Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, spoke the committal rites of the 40-minute Church of England service.

The royalty of 13 nations and that prince of commoners, Prime Minister Winston Churchill, watched as the reigning Queen, almost 60 years junior to the dead Queen grandmother, paid her homage by sprinkling the earth upon the coffin—just as she had done 13 months ago for her father, George VI.

1,500 In Chapel

There were about 1,500 persons in it today. Opposite the royal family sat Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, Queen Frederika of Greece and Princess Alice Countess of Athlone.

Behind Britain's royal family sat the crown prince of Norway, King Baudouin of Belgium and King Hussein of Jordan. There also were former King Umberto of Italy, Prince Chula of Thailand, Prince Bertil of Sweden, Prince Felix of Luxembourg, Prince George of Denmark and Prince Louis of the German house of Hesse.

Among the mourners was Oscar Humfrey, 78, chauffeur for 35 years to Queen Mary and her husband, King George V.

For the service, Queen Mary's body was brought to the identical spot on which the coffin of King George VI lay 13 months ago.

Queen Mary died last Tuesday after an illness of five weeks.

M'CARTHY TO DEFEND TRADE PACTS TODAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), whose lone-wolf effort to curb free world trading with the Communists kicked up a storm, goes to the State Department today to defend it.

McCarthy has been angling for the support of President Eisenhower in the move, involving an agreement he arranged among Greek owners of 242 merchant ships to refrain from hauling goods to Red China, North Korea, or between Communist ports.

Secretary of State Dulles has kept strict official silence on the agreement, as has the President. But Harold E. Stassen, mutual security director, denounced it as "undermining" Dulles' foreign policy objective of curtailing free world trade with Red nations.

Luncheon Conference

McCarthy announced yesterday that, pending a talk with Dulles, he was holding up negotiations to sign the Greek owners of 150 more ships to a similar agreement.

Dulles then invited McCarthy and Francis D. Flanagan, chief counsel of the Senate investigations subcommittee which the senator heads, to a luncheon conference on the issue.

McCarthy had told Stassen Monday in an angry public exchange that Flanagan and two aides, carrying on the bulk of the negotiations with the Greeks, had done in weeks what the State Department under Democratic Secretary Dean Acheson and Republican Dulles had failed to do in three years of effort.

Has Nash Backing

McCarthy goes to the meeting with Dulles fortified by testimony at a public hearing yesterday before the subcommittee by Frank C. Nash, assistant secretary of defense, that the Pentagon favors any move that will reduce the flow of goods from the free world to nations behind the Iron Curtain.

Nash said the military would applaud any McCarthy move in that direction if it did not interfere with over-all administration objectives.

15-Car Train Of Ammunition Blasted By B26

SEOUL (AP)—A mere handful of Communist patrols probed Allied lines along the 155-mile Korean battlefront Tuesday in the wake of bloody fighting on the western end of the line.

The day's biggest explosion was provided by a 15-car Communist ammunition train caught in the open by an American bomber.

Stormy skies curtailed aerial warfare, but some warplanes roared out at dawn to pound Red communications and frontline positions.

The Eighth Army reported light probing attacks in the Punch Bowl area on the Eastern Front and in the White Horse Mountain sector of Central Korea. All were turned back easily, the Army said.

No activity was reported on the Western Front where Marines on bloody Vegas Hill broke up two Chinese stabbing attacks Monday.

A B26 Invader spotted the Red train far up the Korean East Coast and Capt. Robert O. Self of Orlando, Fla., the observer, said two bombs landed right on the target.

"The whole train lit up," Self reported.

The locomotive and all 15 cars were listed as destroyed.

Business And Social News For The Residents Of The Fairfield Community

FIREMEN TO TALK CARNIVAL

Further planning for the annual Fairfield Homecoming Celebration and the carnival of the Fairfield Community Fire Co., to be held July 2, 3 and 4, will occupy a considerable share of the time of the regular fire company meeting tonight in its quarters in the community building.

The event annually attracks hundred of visitors to Fairfield for the ball games, and meals served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Co. Except for a "kiddies parade," all parades were abandoned a few years ago because of difficulty in handling traffic on the state highway through the town.

There will be a carnival on the grounds next to the community building, with rides, games and concessions. Sandwiches, luncheons and meals will be served on the grounds and in the building.

Paul Myers, president of the fire company, will preside at tonight's meeting.

F. H. S. Will Graduate First Class In Years

Fairfield High School will graduate its first class in several years, in June, 1954, and the Alumni Association of the school, inactive during the period that Fairfield had no high school classes and pupils attended Gettysburg, is making plans for this 1954 Commencement.

The Alumni Association reorganized recently with John Diehl as its new president. It will hold a get-together meeting and buffet supper in the cafeteria of the high school building May 9 to make plans for participation in the graduation program next year and its own reunions, the first ot be held in some time.

Plan Cancer Drive In Fairfield Apr. 8

Solicitors for the Adams County unit of the American Cancer Society will conduct a "lights on" campaign in that area next Wednesday, April 8.

Mrs. C. L. Sheads is chairman of the solicitation in Fairfield where the group hopes to raise $225. Mrs. Madeline Fortna is chairman at McKnightstown, where the goal is $50 and Miss Joan Musselman is chairman for the Cashtown - Orrtanna Section where the goal is $100.

The canvassers are asking residents of their areas wishing to donate to turn on lights on their porches on next Wednesday night so that the solicitors will know which persons wish to donate. In that way they will be able to complete their canvass in record time through the cooperation of the residents.

BILL PROPOSES TO RECODIFY COUNTY LAWS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Laws of all Pennsylvania counties with the exception of Philadelphia and Allegheny would be recodified under a new bill before the Senate.

Sen. Charles R. Mallery (R-Blair), co-sponsor of the giant bill, said it is the result of findings of the Local Government Commission. The measure, introduced yesterday, went to the Local Government Committee.

Other sponsors are Sens. George B. Stevenson (R-Clinton), Local Government chairman; Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford), GOP floor leader; William J. Lane (D-Washington) and Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton).

Other new Senate bills would:

Reimburse school districts paying tuition for students attending vocational or other extension courses in other district—Sen. A. H. Letzler (R-Clearfield).

Require school districts to provide extension courses upon the written application of 15 or more persons—Letzler.

Establish a board of prison inspectors in fifth class counties—Sens. G. Robert Watkins (R-Delaware) and Fred P. Hare Jr. (R-Somertset).

Authorize the sheriff in seventh and eighth class counties to appoint a solicitor—Watkins and Hare.

Boost the fine for illegally conducting a business on Sunday from $4 for each offense to $100 for the first offense, $200 for the second and $300 for each successive offense with the penalty for default of payment increased from six to 90 days in prison for each offense—Sen. George N. Wade (R-Cumberland).

Require approval by the secretary of mines of any anthracite-mining leases drawn up by municipalities—Sen. T. Newell Wood (R-Luzerne).

The land area which drains into the Atlantic Ocean is much greater than that which drains into the Pacific Ocean although the Pacific is much larger than the Atlantic.

GERMAN YOUTH

for much mechanization. Here new machines bring new methods with them, and the farmer in a sense has become accustomed to adapting himself to change, because the changes have meant more profit or more comfort to him personally.

One American custom Stasch would like to transplant to Germany—but doesn't know how to do it. "The projects your FFA and 4-H students have are excellent. I never before realized how much they are needed in training young people to become good farmers. But where here a farmer can give some acres to a son for a project, in Germany farms are so small that there is scarcely enough land to support the family as it is."

Ag Progress Is Slow

Germany has made a tremendous comeback industrially, since the end of the war, "but the progress in agriculture is much slower," Stasch said. "But then farmers everywhere are traditionally slow to change. A factory can be built in a year, but it takes time to build back the soil that was depleted by the lack of fertilizer and the heavy planting of the war years."

He adds his belief that most development of German farming must come from the younger people, learning new ideas as they grow up. "But that is true of most countries. We have little cooperation between farmers in Germany, and the farmer organizations are not like yours here. And farmers for years were told what they had to grow and do, and it takes time to develop independent men able to plan their own way of farming and able to work together among themselves and in organizations. But while farmers may make progress slowly, as they advance it is on a sound basis."

Fears Next War

Stasch fears only war will unite Germany, war between the great powers, a world war, or if all foreign troops are out, probably a civil war. The People's Police in Germany are young men, who know nothing but communism. They are well indoctrinated and it will take years and possibly a war to change their ideas. I am pessimistic, because there seems little hope for peaceful settlement of the problem. If settlement could come now, while the older people are still living, it should not be difficult. But if it does not come until only the young men trained as communists remain, then there will be trouble."

VAN FLEET ENDS LONG CAREER IN U. S. ARMY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The crash of a 17-gun saluate at dusk Tuesday signaled the end of the 38-year military career of Gen. James A. Van Fleet—one of the nation's most successful and most controversial combat soldiers.

The 61-year-old warrior steps into retirement less than 24 hours before a Senate armed services subcommittee is due to open an inquiry into his disputed claims that a serious and sometimes critical shortage of ammunition existed during all the 22 months he commanded the U. S. Eighth Army in Korea.

Army chiefs have denied that shortages hampered the Army in its mission.

Several senators had appealed to Secretary of the Army Stevens to keep Van Fleet in uniform although his retirement normally would be compulsory because of his 60 years of age, 35 years of Army service, and five years in the grade of major general.

But Stevens held that Van Fleet would not be ruled an exception to the policy which went into effect while President Eisenhower was Army chief of staff.

New Homes Being Built In Fairfield

A new community of modern homes is growing up within the borough of Fairfield, on a street ordained about two year ago parallel to Main St. and a block north, which was named Franklin St.

The land needed for laying out the street was presented to the borough by Frank Bishop. Since that time 28 building lots have been sold; four homes have been construced; two more on being completed.

The street extends from Spring Run on the east, from near the James Landis property, to the property of C. A. Wills on the west.

Bob Addis, outfielder for the Chicago Cubs, was an all-around athlete at Barberton, O., high school where he earned 11 letters in sports.

CLARK PUTS SICK PRISONERS FIRST IN TRUCE TALKS

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark, the United Nations commander, made it clear today that the first concrete step toward a truce in Korea must be the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war.

But he told newsmen, "We're making all preparations and will be ready to go. We don't want to do anything to hold up negotiations."

Clark's demand that exchange of disabled prisoners be the first order of business came as Red China's Premier, Chou En - lai, cabled to United Nations headquarters the latest Communist proposal for ending the Korean fighting.

Answers Red Plan

The U. N. commander voiced the same demand Tuesday in a letter answering an earlier Red proposal to trade disabled prisoners and to resume the suspended truce talks.

The plan Chou cabled to U. N. headquarters was first broadcast by Peiping Monday. It called for immediate exchange of all prisoners who "insist" on repatriation. The rest would be turned over to a neutral country until their future is determined.

No Reply Yet

Of 132,000 Chinese and North Korean prisoners in U. N. stockades, only about 81,000 have said they want to go home. The Communists have listed 3,198 American prisoners, all of whom presumably would want to leave North Korea, and about 9,000 other prisoners, mostly South Koreans.

The Communist command has not yet answered Clark's letter in which he proposed settling details for exchanging sick and wounded prisoners before taking up plans for resuming truce negotiations.

There was no indication when a reply would be forthcoming.

Meanwhile, there were these other developments:

Eighth Army medical officers sped plans for handling Allied sick and wounded personnel now in Communist hands.

Ready To House POWS

U. S. Marines observers on the Western Front reported the Chinese Reds have cleared Koreans from a village just outside Panmunjom, possibly in anticipation of an early exchange of prisoners.

AP Correspondent Forrest Edwards reported that preparations have been made to house prisoners repatriated by the Reds.

Rear Adm. John C. Daniel arrived here from Japan to take over leadership of an Allied liaison group which is scheduled to arrange for the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners. Daniel is a regular member of the Allied truce team.

FACE CODE CHARGES

Ten-day notices were sent by Justice of the Peace Robert P Snyder today to L. R. Sneeringer, Linden Ave., Hanover, and Joseph H. Timmerman, Emmitsburg R. 1, on charges of passing red lights. Sneeringer was charged by state police and Timmerman by borough police.

James A. Garfield, who died at 49, lived the shortest life of any U.S. President.

MADEMOISELLE CLUBS LEADS CANCER DRIVE

The Mademoiselle Club of York Springs will carry out the solicitation for the annual drive of the Adams County unit of the American Cancer Society in that community.

Attorney John MacPhail, county chairmen, said the members of the Mademoiselle club have volunteered to canvass York Springs to seek to raise the borough's goal of $125.

The service group hopes to be able to do its work in one night, next Wednesday, April 8. On that evening they ask persons wishing to donate to the drive to turn on the porch lights of their homes as a signal to the solicitors telling them that a contribution awaits their arrival.

Half Remains Here

One-half of the money raised in the county remains here and the remainder goes to the American Cancer society, members of the Mademoiselle club said.

They pointed out that 34 per cent of the $18,000,000 to be raised throughout the nation will go to service to cancer victims through detection centers, tumor clinics, hospital equipment, surgical dressings, sedatives and nursing care. Twenty-six per cent goes for research by 900 scientists in 100 research centers; 22 per cent goes for education through films, literature, exhibits, school instruction, fellowships, special training, clinical films and seminars to help people discover earlier that they have cancer and help physicians in earlier diagnosis of the disease. Nine per cent goes for administration, seven per cent goes for materials used in the annual drive in April and two per cent goes for the training and recruitment necessary to carry out the work.

The Adams County unit maintains a tumor clinic at the Warner Hospital and has already spent several thousand dollars towards its equipment. The county unit also supplies films and literature to help people recognize cancer.

Members of the Mademoiselle Club who will carry out the canvass include Mrs. Emma Kemper, the president; F. Pauline Kemper, secretary; Mrs. Jeannette Frost, Mrs. Letha R. Glatfelter, Roberta Grove, Marian Golden, Isabelle Guise, Mary Kennedy, Myrtle Kennedy, Alice Koons, Carolyn Lerew, Jennie Plank, Ann Rhoads, Florence Smith, Marguerite Stough, Penny Shook, Margaret Tanger, Alice Yohn, Marie Zerbe and Miriam Zepp.

Interesting News Of Upper Adams Countians And Their Enterprises

PRO WRESTLING BOUTS AT FAIR GROUND IN MAY

The gargantuan grunt and groan gymnasts of the wrestling ring are coming to the South Mountian Fairgrounds.

That was revealed today with announcement of a schedule of events for the fair grounds by Robert C. Lott, president of the South Mountani Community and Fair Association.

Lott said the fair association is securing a license from the state boxing commission to operate wrestling bouts at the fairgrounds and will stage its first match on May 8.

A professional promotor of such activities is being secured to bring to the fairgrounds the top attractions in the heave and haul exhibitions.

The fair association president said television has apparently stirred so much interest in the ponderous glamour boys of the muscle displays that the association has decided there is sufficient interest to warrant wrestling shows.

Other Activities

Date for the second exhibition is June 5. If the public wants more after that additional wrestling matches will be arranged for the fairgrounds. "If they don't, then we'll drop it there," Lott said.

Other activities announced by Lott for the Fairgrounds range from the annual barbershop quartet contest to be Upper Adams commencement activities.

The schedule includes: April 10, school operetta; April 17, Upper Adams Lions' annual barber shop harmony night; April 24, elementary school spring musicial; May 1, secondary school spring musicial! May 8, the first wrestling show; May 14-15 Gettysburg Times Cooking school; May 24, Upper Adams baccalaureate; May 26, Upper Adams commencement; June 5, second wrestling show. The Kitchenettes plan to hold an antique show at the fairgrounds for four days about the middle of June, but final dates have not as yet been decided, Lott said.

NEW CARETAKER AT FAIRGROUNDS

John Keffer, Arendtsville, has been appointed as caretaker for the South Mountain Fairgrounds, Robert C. Lott, president of the South Mountain Community and Fair Association, announced today.

Mr. Keffer succeeds Ralph Beamer, who was caretaker for many years. Mr. Beamer was forced to resign because of ill health and his resignation "has been accepted with great regret, for Mr. Beamer during the years performed his duties in an outstanding manner," President Lott said.

Among the duties of the caretaker is handling arrangements for the hundreds of people who each year use the fairfrounds for picnics and other affairs.

Those wishing the use of building, or similar facilities at the fairgrounds are asked to contact Mr. Keffer at the home of Walter Frederick, Arendtsville, phone Biglerville 133-R-3.

During the year 50 or 60 family reunions are held at the fairgrounds in addition to picnics by fraternal organizations and industrial groups. The work of scheduling the fairground facilities for such activities formerly handled by Mr. Beamer will now be handled by Mr. Keffer.

FARM CALENDAR

Use Orchard Rotation — A survey of fruit growers in major fruit section showed that the most profitable crops are borne in the early life of an orchard when the trees are relatively young. Carl Bittner, Penn State extension fruit specialist, says many growers make new plantings regularly, and on good sites, in a careful plan to keep young trees advancing to replace older ones.

Be Ready For Chicks — Have all preparations made before baby chicks arrive, reminds F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultry specialist. This means all remodeling should be finished, the house thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, the brooder stove set up and fired for a couple of days so you are sure it works properly.

Treat Fence Posts — Use of treated fence posts would save about half of the annual fence post replacements, according to Walter Simonds, Penn State extension forester. A few extra dollars spent for treating when building a new fence will save more than half the annual costs of repair, replacement, and labor.

Prevent Loss — Wherever possible, use disease-resistant vegetable varieties to prevent disease loss, urges O. D. Burke, Penn State extension plant pathologist. Such varieties yield well, and they cost little more than susceptible varieties.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman, was host to a group of GOP leaders Monday night at a harmony dinner.

"It was the most harmonious dinner we've had in the Republican party in Pennsylvania in the last 20 years," Taylor said afterwards.

Guests at the dinner included Gov. John S. Fine, U. S. Sens. Edward Martin and James H. Duff and G. Mason Owlett, Republican national committeeman and top leader of the Grundy forces in the party.

Dixie Walker, newest addition to the St. Louis Cardinals coaching staff, spent all or part of 19 seasons in the major leagues. He compiled a lifetime batting average of 306.

Identify Termites — Mature termites have a black body that is not pinched at the waistline, and four long, gray wings of equal length and at least twice as long as the body, explains Stanley Gesell, Penn State extension entomologist.

See Ornamentals — Visit nearby nurseries and greenhouses to get acquainted with new and used ornamentals, suggests A. O. Rasmussen, Penn State extension ornamental horticulturist.

Organic Matter Needed — For successful growing of vegetables the soil needs organic matter. This material makes the soil mellow and easy to work and it holds that precious moisture for the plants to use in their growth.

Keep Litter Dry — If enough litter is used on the floor, and it is kept dry through stirring, then it may not be necessary to change litter throughout the brooding period. Poultry growers can save labor, use less litter materials, and maintain satisfactory floor conditions.

Use wood ashes — When ashes are removed from the fireplace, sift out the larger pieces of unburned wood and place small amounts of the fine material around delphiniums, lilacs, and roses. John Meszaros, Penn State extension ornamental hortculturist, says that the potash in ashes helds to grow strong stems.

Grow Small Fruits — There is an excellent opportunity for any farmer living fairly close to a medium-sized local market to grow profitably an acre or two of strawberries, raspberries, or grapes, reminds Carl Bittner, Penn State extension fruit specialist.

Operate Safely — Careful operators take time to equip tractors with fire extinguishers and secure holders for grease guns and other servicing tools carried on the tractor, according to Penn State extension agricultural engineers.

News Items For Upper End

LEGION WOMEN AT BIGLERVILLE PLAN EGG HUNT

Younger children of the Biglerville area will have an opportunity to search for Easter eggs on the lawn at the Ira Lady American Legion Post home Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

The egg hunt, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, is open to all youngsters up to school age and Mrs. Roy Peters, Aspers, president of the auxiliary, said the mothers are invited to attend with their children.

Mrs. James Shetter, chairman of the committee in charge, said upwards of 50 youngsters are expected and 144 eggs have been prepared for hiding on the lawn at the Legion home.

She stressed that the contest is open to all pre-school youngsters from Biglerville and surrounding communities, not only the children of members of the Legion or auxiliary. She added that the "surrounding community" includes all of the other Upper end towns.

Assisting Mrs. Chetter in handling the egg hunt are Mrs. Howard Guise, Mrs. Chester Lawver and Mrs. Robert Eicholtz. Among the eggs to be hunted by the children will be three with special notations on them. The children finding those three eggs will be given special prizes.

All of the youngsters will receive, in addition to the eggs they find, baskets of jelly eggs and small candies.

This year will mark the third time such an event has been held by the auxiliary. In the event of rain Thursday afternoon the egg hunt will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

LUMBER COURSE AT PENN STATE

A new short course in hardwood lumber grading and inspection has been established by the School of Agriculture at the Pennsylvania State College, A. L. Bream, director of short courses for the school, has announced.

The course will be offered for the first time June 8-12, with emphasis being placed on local Pennsylvania hardwoods.

Included in the course is interpretation and application of hardwood rules, general inspection instructions and considerations of miscut, thickness and lengths. Instruction also will be given in measurement and tally of lumber, clear face and sound cuttings, standard defects and exceptions to standard grades.

Several days will be spent in actual grading and measurement practices at nearby mills, and a member of the National Hardwood Lumber Association will assist in the instructional work of the course.

Fees for the course are $25 for Pennsylvania residents and $30 for out-of-state students. Enrollment is limited to 30 persons.

Further information and application blanks may be secured by writing to A. Leland Beam, director of Short Courses, School of Agriculture, The Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa.

Lydella Fly Is Corn Borer Enemy

Fly season is just around the corner and while household screens are being put in place and sprays purchased, Pennsylvania farmers who grow corn will make no move to stop the activities of at least one type of fly.

Most farmers probably never have seen Lydella, but she is one of his best friends, a fly that spends her time out in the corn field.

She's a parasite, but she's welcome as the flowers in May to any farmer or backyard gardener bothered with a damaging pest known as the European corn borer. No one knows for sure, but Lydella flies might be worth several million dollars to corn growers this summer in Pennsylvania alone.

According to Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of the Bureau of Plant Industry in the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, the Lydella fly has been building up a massive population in recent years and is now fairly well established over the state, especially in southeastern counties.

Hoot Evers of the Boston Red Sox doesn't have far to travel to spring training. He lives in Bradenton, Fla.

Of the American League clubs, only St. Louis and Chicago failed to hit at least one home run with the bases loaded in 1952.

News Items For Upper End

LEGION WOMEN AT BIGLERVILLE PLAN EGG HUNT

Younger children of the Biglerville area will have an opportunity to search for Easter eggs on the lawn at the Ira Lady American Legion Post home Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

The egg hunt, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, is open to all youngsters up to school age and Mrs. Roy Peters, Aspers, president of the auxiliary, said the mothers are invited to attend with their children.

Mrs. James Shetter, chairman of the committee in charge, said upwards of 50 youngsters are expected and 144 eggs have been prepared for hiding on the lawn at the Legion home.

She stressed that the contest is open to all pre-school youngsters from Biglerville and surrounding communities, not only the children of members of the Legion or auxiliary. She added that the "surrounding community" includes all of the other Upper end towns.

Assisting Mrs. Chetter in handling the egg hunt are Mrs. Howard Guise, Mrs. Chester Lawver and Mrs. Robert Eicholtz. Among the eggs to be hunted by the children will be three with special notations on them. The children finding those three eggs will be given special prizes.

All of the youngsters will receive, in addition to the eggs they find, baskets of jelly eggs and small candies.

This year will mark the third time such an event has been held by the auxiliary. In the event of rain Thursday afternoon the egg hunt will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

LUMBER COURSE AT PENN STATE

A new short course in hardwood lumber grading and inspection has been established by the School of Agriculture at the Pennsylvania State College, A. L. Bream, director of short courses for the school, has announced.

The course will be offered for the first time June 8-12, with emphasis being placed on local Pennsylvania hardwoods.

Included in the course is interpretation and application of hardwood rules, general inspection instructions and considerations of miscut, thickness and lengths. Instruction also will be given in measurement and tally of lumber, clear face and sound cuttings, standard defects and exceptions to standard grades.

Several days will be spent in actual grading and measurement practices at nearby mills, and a member of the National Hardwood Lumber Association will assist in the instructional work of the course.

Fees for the course are $25 for Pennsylvania residents and $30 for out-of-state students. Enrollment is limited to 30 persons.

Further information and application blanks may be secured by writing to A. Leland Beam, director of Short Courses, School of Agriculture, The Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa.

FIGHTING ENDS BUT HAGGLING GETS UNDER WAY WITH ARMISTICE

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Korean armistice would not settle the Korean problem. Peace talks begin when the shooting ends. Haggling over peace terms may make the 22 months of haggling over truce terms look mild.

An armistice is not peace, even though men stop dying when the shooting stops. It's a temporary cease-fire, supposedly until a final peace settlement can be worked out.

Representatives of the United Nations and the Communists agreed long ago they'd begin discussions about a permanent peace within three months after the armistice went into effect, if they could ever agree on an armistice.

Withdraw One Mile

When an armistice begins the U. N. troops and the Chinese Communists would not suddenly turn and walk out of Korea. Each side would withdraw one mile from the fighting front, leaving a demilitarized zone of two miles between them.

And there, presumably, they would stay until peace was agreed upon. Neither could clear out before then for fear the other would suddenly resume the attack. How long would that go on? It's anyone's guess.

The U. N. probably would continue training South Koreans, eventually letting them take over the forward positions. Other U. N. troops could then withdraw to supporting positions in the rear, just in case.

Both sides also agreed long ago that with the coming of an armistice neither could thereafter bring in more troops or build up its armament, although each could rotate its troops and replace beat-up equipment.

Reds Might Cheat

If the U. N. found the Communists cheating and building up strength for a new attack, again it's anyone's guess what the U. N. would do. It could hardly sit still.

But the problems of a final peace settlement are greater than those which bogged down the armistice-talkers for almost two years. Here are some examples:

Should Korea be left divided into two by the 38th Parallel, as it was before the North Koreans attacked the South Koreans in June, 1950?

The Chinese Communists and their North Korean allies could hardly settle for anything else. To do otherwise would be to accept at the peace conference a defeat which the U. N. hadn't been able to inflict on the battlefield.

But would the U. N. and Chinese troops have to withdraw from Korean soil, once peace was signed? The Chinese might welcome that idea. They could withdraw just across the border and be ready to pour in suddenly at any future time. Withdrawal for the U. N. would mean clearing out to Japan, at least.

If the U. N. and the Chinese withdrew, would the North Koreans and South Koreans be disarmed? If they weren't, they might start war on one another again and the whole thing would start over.

FIRE ANOTHER ATOMIC BOMB

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—An atomic explosion, relatively weak as judged by veteran observers here but packing a strong wallop at the Atomic Energy Commission's proving ground 75 miles northwest, flared over the Nevada desert at 5 a.m. Tuesday.

The flash was less brilliant than either of the two preceding shots of the spring test series. The usual fast-rising white cloud from the blast, almost always seen here, was not visible. And no shock wave was felt here, also unusual.

But the AEC reported the device, touched off from a 300-foot tower gave observers at the Yucca Flat test site the most severe holting they've had this year.

Two strong shocks were felt, and there were continuing reverberations after the blast, the AEC said.

The AEC did not describe the device detonated Tuesday and gave no explanation for the effects noted in the control tower and the lack of effectss noted here.

SENATE TO AIR NEW DISTRICT PLAN TUESDAY

HARRISBURG (AP) — The tangled problem of reapportioning Pennsylvania's legislative districts will be aired before the 32-member Republican majority in the Senate at a meeting next Tuesday night.

"We'll go over the whole situation, discussing all plans offered," said Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, GOP floor leader.

Meanwhile, Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong), chairman of the Senate Reapportionement Committee, said he will confer with Gov. John S. Fine on redistricting problems if it can be arranged.

One of the knottiest issues before the 1953 General Assembly, legislative reapportionment last was accomplished in the Keystone State in 1921. The State Constitution calls for it to be done every 10 years.

Strongly Critized

Present representation in the Assembly has been strongly criticized by Democrats who claim their minority vote in the Senate, for instance, actually represents a majority of the state's voters population-wise.

A shifting population in the past 32 years has greatly distorted the representation picture in many areas. One sore spot in particular is Northeast Philadelphia where some 200,000 persons have moved from other locations in recent years.

Up for discussion at next Tuesday's meeting will be one tentative plan presented by Sen. Pechan which increase the House of Representatives from 208 to 210 members. It would keep the Senate at 50 but would add one senator to each of Allegheny, Delaware and Montgomery Counties.

May Shift Adams

Numerous consolidations of other senatorial districts would make the additions to these three counties possible.

One idea is to break up Sen. Donald P. McPherson's Adams-Franklin County district. Franklin would go to Sen. Fred P. Hare's Somerset-Fulton-Bedford district.

Adams would to to Sen. George N. Wade (R-Cumberland). Wade, keeping Perry, Juniata and Cumberland, at the same time would lost Mifflin, which would go to Sen. Samuel B. Wolfe (R-Snyder). Wolfe now has Northumberland, Snyder and Union Counties.

MARINE ADMITS FIVE SLAYINGS IN FOUR DAYS; 1 BODY MISSING

DUBUQUE, Ia. (AP)—The father of an 18-year-old Marine was flying to Dubuque today "to see for myself" that it is his son who Dubuque County authorities say has admitted slaying five people in four days.

Authorities from three states also were en route here to question Fred E. McManus of Valley Stream, N. Y.

Dubuque County Sheriff Leo J. Martin said McManus in a signed statement had admitted double slayings in Minnesota and Illinois and the fatal shooting in New York state of a Hobart College student whose body has not yet been found.

Body Dumped Into Ditch

Mose McManus, father of the young Marine, told newsmen in Valley Stream last night he would fly here on the first plane he could get because he "can't believe it's my son" involved in the slayings.

Young McManus was picked up with a 16-year-old Summerville, N. Y., girl he said was his wife, and another man in a stolen red-and-black convertible near here late yesterday.

Martin said the young Marine, due back Monday night after a 10-day leave from Camp Lejeune, N. C., confessed shoting the student, Allen Braverman, 19, near Rochester, N. Y., Friday aftenoon and then taking Braverman's 1953 model car. McManus said he dumped the body into a ditch about 20 miles outside the city and covered it with dirt.

Confessed Killings

Sheriff Martin said McManus also confessed these killings:

Mrs. Davis Beaton, wife of a Spring Valley, Minn., cafe owner and Mrs. Harriet Horseman, 48, a waitress in the all-night cafe, early Monday.

George N. Bloomberg, 56, and his wife Florence, 55, Saturday in a grocery-garage they operated at Keeneyville, Ill., about 25 miles northwest of Chicago.

Robbed Couple, Stole Car

McManus also confessed that he robbed a couple of $10 near Dubuque Sunday night and stole their auto, Martin said.

The girl he said was his wife was identified by authorities as Diana Marie Weggeland of Summerville. Her foster mother, Mrs. Lawrence Sheffel, said the girl has been missing since she left home last Friday night.

Martin quoted McManus as saying in a signed statement he did "all these things to take my wife to California." The sheriff said the girl later told him she knew of the Minnesota and Illinois slayings but did not know about the murder near Rochester.

Tag Deadline Catches Cops

EAST PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—The deadline for driving in New Jersey with 1952 license tags was midnight last night.

Shortly before the deadline, a radio patrol car contacted police Desk Sgt. Michael Stack with this message:

"Car four-eight, car four-eight to headquarters. Sergeant, we can only work up to midnight. We don't have tags on the car."

Quipped back the sergeant:

"Just keep going. Stay clear of cops and you'll be all right."

EXCHANGE SICK, WOUNDED FIRST REDS ARE TOLD

MUNSAN (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark told the Communists Tuesday he is ready to resume Korean armistice negotiations once they agree to details of exchanging sick and wounded prisoners of war.

The U. N. Far East commander proposed that liaison groups from both sides, headed by a general or an admiral, meet at Panmunjom to make the trade arrangements.

Clark served notice that after nearly three years of war and two years of talking about peace, the Communists must show good faith before the U. N. will go back to the conference table.

In a letter delivered at Panmunjom, he told the Reds he would instruct his liaison group to arrange resumption of armistice negotiations "as a second order of business."

Clark arrived in Korea from his Tokyo headquarters two hours before his letter was delivered at a meeting of liaison officers. There was no reference in the two-minute meeting to the new proposal by Red China's premier, Chou En-lai, to settle the truce-blocking issue of exchange of prisoners of war.

Clark, accompanied by Army Secretary Robert Stevens and Eight Army commander Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, also conferred with South Korean President Syngman Rhee for 30 minutes at the presidential mansion.

Clark's letter was addressed to the top Communist commanders in Korea, Premier Kim Il Sung, commander of the North Korean forces, and Gen. Peng Teh-huai, commander of the Chinese forces.

It was in reply to a letter from the Red commanders Saturday agreeing to a U. N. proposal Feb. 22 to exchange seriously sick and wounded prisoners at once.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Keating (R-NY) said Tuseday Alger Hiss' lawyer plans to find out if Hiss wants to talk about reported Communist infiltration of the United Nations staff.

Keating told reporters Robert Benjamin, New York attorney for the former State Department official, advised him he will get in touch with Hiss in the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Korean armistice would not settle the Korean problem. Peace talks begin when the shooting ends. Haggling over peace terms may make the 22 months of haggling over truce terms look mild.

An armistice is not peace, even though men stop dying when the shooting stops. It's a temporary cease-fire, supposedly until a final peace settlement can be worked out.

Representatives of the United Nations and the Communists agreed long ago they'd begin discussions about a permanent peace within three months after the armistice went into effect, if they could ever agree on an armistice.

Withdraw One Mile

When an armistice begins the U. N. troops and the Chinese Communists would not suddenly turn and walk out of Korea. Each side would withdraw one mile from the fighting front, leaving a demilitarized zone of two miles between them.

And there, presumably, they would stay until peace was agreed upon. Neither could clear out before then for fear the other would suddenly resume the attack. How long would that go on? It's anyone's guess.

The U. N. probably would continue training South Koreans, eventually letting them take over the forward positions. Other U. N. troops could then withdraw to supporting positions in the rear, just in case.

Both sides also agreed long ago that with the coming of an armistice neither could thereafter bring in more troops or build up its armament, although each could rotate its troops and replace beat-up equipment.

Reds Might Cheat

If the U. N. found the Communists cheating and building up strength for a new attack, again it's anyone's guess what the U. N. would do. It could hardly sit still.

But the problems of a final peace settlement are greater than those which bogged down the armistice-talkers for almost two years. Here are some examples:

Should Korea be left divided into two by the 38th Parallel, as it was before the North Koreans attacked the South Koreans in June, 1950?

The Chinese Communists and their North Korean allies could hardly settle for anything else. To do otherwise would be to accept at the peace conference a defeat which the U. N. hadn't been able to inflict on the battlefield.

But would the U. N. and Chinese troops have to withdraw from Korean soil, once peace was signed? The Chinese might welcome that idea. They could withdraw just across the border and be ready to pour in suddenly at any future time. Withdrawal for the U. N. would mean clearing out to Japan, at least.

If the U. N. and the Chinese withdrew, would the North Koreans and South Koreans be disarmed? If they weren't, they might start war on one another again and the whole thing would start over.

FIRE ANOTHER ATOMIC BOMB

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—An atomic explosion, relatively weak as judged by veteran observers here but packing a strong wallop at the Atomic Energy Commission's proving ground 75 miles northwest, flared over the Nevada desert at 5 a.m. Tuesday.

The flash was less brilliant than either of the two preceding shots of the spring test series. The usual fast-rising white cloud from the blast, almost always seen here, was not visible. And no shock wave was felt here, also unusual.

But the AEC reported the device, touched off from a 300-foot tower gave observers at the Yucca Flat test site the most severe holting they've had this year.

Two strong shocks were felt, and there were continuing reverberations after the blast, the AEC said.

The AEC did not describe the device detonated Tuesday and gave no explanation for the effects noted in the control tower and the lack of effectss noted here.

SENATE TO AIR NEW DISTRICT PLAN TUESDAY

HARRISBURG (AP) — The tangled problem of reapportioning Pennsylvania's legislative districts will be aired before the 32-member Republican majority in the Senate at a meeting next Tuesday night.

"We'll go over the whole situation, discussing all plans offered," said Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, GOP floor leader.

Meanwhile, Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong), chairman of the Senate Reapportionement Committee, said he will confer with Gov. John S. Fine on redistricting problems if it can be arranged.

One of the knottiest issues before the 1953 General Assembly, legislative reapportionment last was accomplished in the Keystone State in 1921. The State Constitution calls for it to be done every 10 years.

Strongly Critized

Present representation in the Assembly has been strongly criticized by Democrats who claim their minority vote in the Senate, for instance, actually represents a majority of the state's voters population-wise.

A shifting population in the past 32 years has greatly distorted the representation picture in many areas. One sore spot in particular is Northeast Philadelphia where some 200,000 persons have moved from other locations in recent years.

Up for discussion at next Tuesday's meeting will be one tentative plan presented by Sen. Pechan which increase the House of Representatives from 208 to 210 members. It would keep the Senate at 50 but would add one senator to each of Allegheny, Delaware and Montgomery Counties.

May Shift Adams

Numerous consolidations of other senatorial districts would make the additions to these three counties possible.

One idea is to break up Sen. Donald P. McPherson's Adams-Franklin County district. Franklin would go to Sen. Fred P. Hare's Somerset-Fulton-Bedford district.

Adams would to to Sen. George N. Wade (R-Cumberland). Wade, keeping Perry, Juniata and Cumberland, at the same time would lost Mifflin, which would go to Sen. Samuel B. Wolfe (R-Snyder). Wolfe now has Northumberland, Snyder and Union Counties.

Here And There

of Schools, Dr. Lloyd C. Feefauver.)

Fearing that the Confederates would burn his farm buildings, Mr. Bollinger started for his former home. He was seized by some Rebel scouts who suspected him of being a spy. He told of being driven from his farm where they could verify his residence by finding his name carved on a stable door. A messenger was dispatched and upon his return Mr. Bollinger was released.

After the battle the Bollingers returned to their farm where they found their cattle missing. Their kitchen had been used as a slaughterhouse and their bed clothes had been stolen. Mrs. Bollinger found a few blankets on the battlefield but these were later reclaimed by the Northern Army.

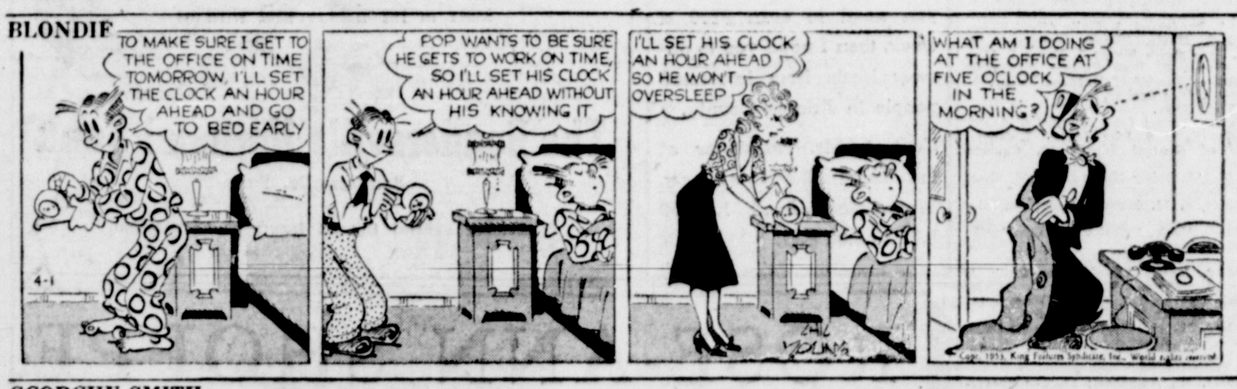

Mrs. Bollinger wondered about her bread. When she opened the oven door there was her bread, untouched. It had been overlooked or forgotten by the troops who invaded her property.

Mr. Bollinger used his last $10 to buy a barrel of flour.

of Schools, Dr. Lloyd C. Feefauver.)

Fearing that the Confederates would burn his farm buildings, Mr. Bollinger started for his former home. He was seized by some Rebel scouts who suspected him of being a spy. He told of being driven from his farm where they could verify his residence by finding his name carved on a stable door. A messenger was dispatched and upon his return Mr. Bollinger was released.

After the battle the Bollingers returned to their farm where they found their cattle missing. Their kitchen had been used as a slaughterhouse and their bed clothes had been stolen. Mrs. Bollinger found a few blankets on the battlefield but these were later reclaimed by the Northern Army.

Mrs. Bollinger wondered about her bread. When she opened the oven door there was her bread, untouched. It had been overlooked or forgotten by the troops who invaded her property.

Mr. Bollinger used his last $10 to buy a barrel of flour.

Swedish Dep. Foreign Minister Elected UN Secretary-General To Succeed Lie; Surprise Move

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. delegates today viewed the East-West agreement on a new U. N. secretary general and Communist Chinese proposals to settle the Korean prisoner-of-war question as major steps in the Soviet Union's new post-Stalin peace offensive.

With Andrei Y. Vishinsky making his first U. N. appearance since his return from Moscow, the Security Council yesterday broke its long deadlock over a successor to Trygve Lie and nominated Dag Hammarskjold, Swedish deputy foreign minister, to fill the post. Hammarskjold had not previously been mentioned publicly as a possible choice.

The surprise East-West agreement came on the heels of Red China's broadcast offer two days ago to settle the major issue standing in the way of a Korean armistice. That proposal had immediately captured top attention at the U. N.

First Accord In Months

Agreement on a successor for Lie was the first concord between the Soviets and the West on any major issue before the U. N. in many months. Delegates hailed it with the speculation that if the cold war adversaries could get together on a new U. N. chief executive, the way may be paved for settlement of other bitter problems harassing the 60-nation world organization.

Hammarskjold was approved first yesterday in a secret huddle of the Security Council's five permanent members—the U. S., Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Nationalist China. Each agreed not to use his veto if the Swede won the seven Council votes necessary for his selection.

Hammarskjold emphasized that he would have to talk to his government associates before deciding whether to accept.

The nominee is 48, a bachelor, and an internationally known economist and career diplomat. He is from a family of statesmen and military men and his father, Hjalmar Hammarskjold, was Swedish premier during World War I.

Hammarskjold was tapped for the $40,000-a-year post to succeed a fellow Scandinavian—the Norwegian Lie. The Soviets had fought Lie bitterly since he supported the U. S.-U. N. action in Korea in 1950.

ATOMIC PLANT TO POWER SUB

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world's first known version of an atomic power plant to propel a submarine has been placed in operation, the Atomic Energy Commission announced Tuesday.

The device—a working model of one that eventually will power the Navy's atomic sub, the USS Nautilus—was set in operation on dry land at the AEC's testing station in Arco, Idaho.

The AEC said the "prototype" power plant—that is, the landlocked version of a seagoing type—has "successfully entered its first phase of operation" and will eventually be brought to "full power."

This was the first word that atomic scientists had actually achieved power in a reactor of the type that is expected to allow a submarine to travel many thousands of miles without refueling and to stay submerged for great lengths of time.

The commission said the atomic power plant had entered a phase known as "criticality"—that is, the atomic fuel used in it has been brought to a point where it is sustaining a chain reaction and yielding atomic energy that can be harnessed for propulsion of a submarine.

NEWSPAPERMAN TELLS OF FIRST VISIT TO RUSSIA

(Eugene A. Simon filed this dispatch from Moscow shortly after he reached the Russian capital as a member of a group of American news executives admitted for a week's visit. Simon is president and general manager of the Valley Daily News, Tarentum, Pa. A graduate of Baldwin-Wallace College, he took graduate work at Pennsylvania State College. He was a lieutenant aboard a Pacific carrier in World War II.)

By EUGENE A. SIMON

(Written for The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, March 31 (AP)—Here I sit in the National Hotel smack in the middle of Moscow just across Hunter's Square from the Kremlin.

Five days ago I had space reserved to return to the United States. Now look where I am—with the first American newspapermen to come here as a group since the Council of Foreign Ministers in 1947.

Actually I've been in Moscow only a few minutes. The fact is I have had nothing to eat, nor even a drink of vodka.

We were supposed to leave Helsinki on the 12:25 p.m. scheduled flight. Something happened. The second secretary of the Soviet legation told us there was a special chartered plane for us. It was good news because we thought our flight had been canceled.

Sleet And Snow

When we got on the plane there were sleet and snow flurries and rain. We didn't know if we were going to get to Moscow tonight or not. But we piled in. The first person we saw was a pleasant Russian girl hostess who spoke a few words of English. With the help of our Russian-English dictionary we got along all right.

I mean we found our seats.

Our runway was full of slush and snow and the pilot sort of gave us a thrill—he gunned her right up off the ground and there we were on the way to Russia.

"Twenty minutes," our hostess said. "Twenty minutes."

A few minutes later we asked her again. "Twenty minutes," she said.

"Over Russia"

Finally she told us we were over Russia. It was still soupy outside. The curtain of the pilot's cabin parted. Out stepped a very handsome Russian with carefully combed hair. He was the movie type of pilot. We opened the conversation and found he spoke English.

It was still soupy and we didn't see the ground until we were about an hour out of Moscow. But it was worth waiting for.

Everything cleared and, as they say in the Navy, off our starboard quarter there she was—a great big glorious sunset—one of the most impressive I've ever seen—a crimson flood over the broad horizon—of what I am told is the ancient Muscovite Plain.

Then came the lights of Moscow. We asked the hostess to turn out the lights in the plane so we could see. There were two lines of people with noses lined to the windows.

Land In Russia

It was dark now. The pilot took a long approach to the field but he made a beautiful landing. At Moscow's Vnukovo Airport we crowded to get off. It was the first time any of us had been in Russia. Officials met us and were very courteous. We had a small bit of customs and then got into a fleet of automobiles.

Up to now the big question of our tour had been, "What's going to happen when we get to Moscow?" We got the answer quick. We were met by a few officials, American newspapermen and a photographer who proved that photographers are the same all over the world. For he said, "One more please, one more."

Everyone was very friendly. The smile is international. We gave them and we got them. The thing that stood out on a 20-mile trip from the airport was the new Moscow University towering in the spring sky.

We thought it would be cold. But it's warm here.

I've got a fine room at the National Hotel.

As I hit these last words out on a typewriter I can see big rosy stars atop the Kremlin's high towers. If you'll pardon me I think I will go and eat my first Russian meal.

United States President John Tyler was the father of 14 children.

CAPITOL HILL SKEPTICAL ON PEACE MOVES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. McCormack (D-Mass) called today for a time limit on any future Korean truce negotiations, while other key congressmen continued to eye Communist peace overtures skeptically.

House Republican leaders said their legislative program to continue the military buildup of the Western World would not be slowed by any new truce talks or even a Korean solution.

There was little apparent confidence on Capitol Hill that any lasting peace would result from Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's seeming offer to give some ground on the disputed question of exchanging war prisoners, by letting prisoners who refused to return home go to a neutral country.

Should Be Explored

Instead, Rep. Lyle (D-Tex), in a strongly worded speech, asked Congress to adopt a resolution that would "spell out a positive request for military victory."

McCormack, assistant Democratic leader, told an interviewer that while Communist offers "should be viewed with caution, if not skepticism," he could see "no reason why our country should not explore" the Peiping proposal, "with the view to a quick and favorable conclusion, not permitting long-drawn-out negotiations."

McCormack said the Chinese could show quickly whether they wanted a Korean truce, and therefore American officials should insist upon a time limit on any negotiations.

YOUTH CRUSHED

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Wayne Bender, 18, was crushed to death early Tuesday between two tractor-trailers on a feeder road leading to the Blue Mountain Interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Bender, employed at a nearby service station, was making adjustments to one truck when a second one backed into him. He died a short time later of a crushed chest in Chambersburg Hospital.

Swedish Dep. Foreign Minister Elected UN Secretary-General To Succeed Lie; Surprise Move

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. delegates today viewed the East-West agreement on a new U. N. secretary general and Communist Chinese proposals to settle the Korean prisoner-of-war question as major steps in the Soviet Union's new post-Stalin peace offensive.

With Andrei Y. Vishinsky making his first U. N. appearance since his return from Moscow, the Security Council yesterday broke its long deadlock over a successor to Trygve Lie and nominated Dag Hammarskjold, Swedish deputy foreign minister, to fill the post. Hammarskjold had not previously been mentioned publicly as a possible choice.

The surprise East-West agreement came on the heels of Red China's broadcast offer two days ago to settle the major issue standing in the way of a Korean armistice. That proposal had immediately captured top attention at the U. N.

First Accord In Months

Agreement on a successor for Lie was the first concord between the Soviets and the West on any major issue before the U. N. in many months. Delegates hailed it with the speculation that if the cold war adversaries could get together on a new U. N. chief executive, the way may be paved for settlement of other bitter problems harassing the 60-nation world organization.

Hammarskjold was approved first yesterday in a secret huddle of the Security Council's five permanent members—the U. S., Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Nationalist China. Each agreed not to use his veto if the Swede won the seven Council votes necessary for his selection.

Hammarskjold emphasized that he would have to talk to his government associates before deciding whether to accept.

The nominee is 48, a bachelor, and an internationally known economist and career diplomat. He is from a family of statesmen and military men and his father, Hjalmar Hammarskjold, was Swedish premier during World War I.

He was chairman of Sweden's delegation to the U. N. Assembly last fall and only left New York March 18.

Hammarskjold was tapped for the $40,000-a-year post to succeed a fellow Scandinavian—the Norwegian Lie. The Soviets had fought Lie bitterly since he supported the U. S.-U. N. action in Korea in 1950.

ATOMIC PLANT TO POWER SUB

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world's first known version of an atomic power plant to propel a submarine has been placed in operation, the Atomic Energy Commission announced Tuesday.

The device—a working model of one that eventually will power the Navy's atomic sub, the USS Nautilus—was set in operation on dry land at the AEC's testing station in Arco, Idaho.

The AEC said the "prototype" power plant—that is, the landlocked version of a seagoing type—has "successfully entered its first phase of operation" and will eventually be brought to "full power."

This was the first word that atomic scientists had actually achieved power in a reactor of the type that is expected to allow a submarine to travel many thousands of miles without refueling and to stay submerged for great lengths of time.

The commission said the atomic power plant had entered a phase known as "criticality"—that is, the atomic fuel used in it has been brought to a point where it is sustaining a chain reaction and yielding atomic energy that can be harnessed for propulsion of a submarine.

NEWSPAPERMAN TELLS OF FIRST VISIT TO RUSSIA

(Eugene A. Simon filed this dispatch from Moscow shortly after he reached the Russian capital as a member of a group of American news executives admitted for a week's visit. Simon is president and general manager of the Valley Daily News, Tarentum, Pa. A graduate of Baldwin-Wallace College, he took graduate work at Pennsylvania State College. He was a lieutenant aboard a Pacific carrier in World War II.)

By EUGENE A. SIMON

(Written for The Associated Press)

Five days ago I had space reserved to return to the United States. Now look where I am—with the first American newspapermen to come here as a group since the Council of Foreign Ministers in 1947.

Actually I've been in Moscow only a few minutes. The fact is I have had nothing to eat, nor even a drink of vodka.

We were supposed to leave Helsinki on the 12:25 p.m. scheduled flight. Something happened. The second secretary of the Soviet legation told us there was a special chartered plane for us. It was good news because we thought our flight had been canceled.

Sleet And Snow

When we got on the plane there were sleet and snow flurries and rain. We didn't know if we were going to get to Moscow tonight or not. But we piled in. The first person we saw was a pleasant Russian girl hostess who spoke a few words of English. With the help of our Russian-English dictionary we got along all right.

I mean we found our seats.

Our runway was full of slush and snow and the pilot sort of gave us a thrill—he gunned her right up off the ground and there we were on the way to Russia.

"Twenty minutes," our hostess said. "Twenty minutes."

A few minutes later we asked her again. "Twenty minutes," she said.

"Over Russia"

Finally she told us we were over Russia. It was still soupy outside. The curtain of the pilot's cabin parted. Out stepped a very handsome Russian with carefully combed hair. He was the movie type of pilot. We opened the conversation and found he spoke English.

It was still soupy and we didn't see the ground until we were about an hour out of Moscow. But it was worth waiting for.

Everything cleared and, as they say in the Navy, off our starboard quarter there she was—a great big glorious sunset—one of the most impressive I've ever seen—a crimson flood over the broad horizon—of what I am told is the ancient Muscovite Plain.

Then came the lights of Moscow. We asked the hostess to turn out the lights in the plane so we could see. There were two lines of people with noses lined to the windows.

Land In Russia

It was dark now. The pilot took a long approach to the field but he made a beautiful landing. At Moscow's Vnukovo Airport we crowded to get off. It was the first time any of us had been in Russia. Officials met us and were very courteous. We had a small bit of customs and then got into a fleet of automobiles.

Up to now the big question of our tour had been, "What's going to happen when we get to Moscow?" We got the answer quick. We were met by a few officials, American newspapermen and a photographer who proved that photographers are the same all over the world. For he said, "One more please, one more."

Everyone was very friendly. The smile is international. We gave them and we got them. The thing that stood out on a 20-mile trip from the airport was the new Moscow University towering in the spring sky.

We thought it would be cold. But it's warm here.

I've got a fine room at the National Hotel.

As I hit these last words out on a typewriter I can see big rosy stars atop the Kremlin's high towers. If you'll pardon me I think I will go and eat my first Russian meal.

United States President John Tyler was the father of 14 children.

CAPITOL HILL SKEPTICAL ON PEACE MOVES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. McCormack (D-Mass) called today for a time limit on any future Korean truce negotiations, while other key congressmen continued to eye Communist peace overtures skeptically.

House Republican leaders said their legislative program to continue the military buildup of the Western World would not be slowed by any new truce talks or even a Korean solution.

There was little apparent confidence on Capitol Hill that any lasting peace would result from Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's seeming offer to give some ground on the disputed question of exchanging war prisoners, by letting prisoners who refused to return home go to a neutral country.

Should Be Explored

Instead, Rep. Lyle (D-Tex), in a strongly worded speech, asked Congress to adopt a resolution that would "spell out a positive request for military victory."

McCormack, assistant Democratic leader, told an interviewer that while Communist offers "should be viewed with caution, if not skepticism," he could see "no reason why our country should not explore" the Peiping proposal, "with the view to a quick and favorable conclusion, not permitting long-drawn-out negotiations."

McCormack said the Chinese could show quickly whether they wanted a Korean truce, and therefore American officials should insist upon a time limit on any negotiations.

The first living passengers to rise from the earth in a balloon are believed to have been a duck, a rooster and a sheep sent up in France in September, 1783.

YOUTH CRUSHED

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Wayne Bender, 18, was crushed to death early Tuesday between two tractor-trailers on a feeder road leading to the Blue Mountain Interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Bender, employed at a nearby service station, was making adjustments to one truck when a second one backed into him. He died a short time later of a crushed chest in Chambersburg Hospital.
